WE NOMINATE

Robert Henry Staples, newly named Director of the Princeton Public Library and guest of honor at Wednesday evening's Third Annual Meeting of the Friends of the Joint Free Public Library, who has brought to his assignment a kind of missionary zeal for books and for "bringing books and people together." At the pivotal point in the development of final plans for the urgently needed "new library" this 32-year old native of New Jersey, the third professional librarian to hold this post, has given his associates and the Library Trustees a tremendous lift in accepting what he calls "the challenges of Princeton."

With Borough Council and Township Committee preparing to ponder jointly architect Thaddeus Longstreth's projections for the new structure at the corner of Witherspoon and Wiggins Streets, a program representing nearly a decade of hope and hard thinking, Staples over the course of weeks has become familiar with, and sensitive to, the community's "reading needs." Fresh from a somewhat comparable New Jersey area, Summit, where for three years he worked closely with a former Princeton Librarian, Miss Jane S. McClure, he is still staggered that on a recent "off-season Saturday" (September 12th) more than 1,000 volumes were placed in circulation.

Staples, a veteran of a three-year, $600,000 construction program in Summit, was admittedly attracted to Princeton as Margaretta Barr's successor by the prospect of helping shape an undertaking which will snap the shackles of woeful inadequacy and tradition by transferring library facilities to a building offering 10 times as much square footage as overloaded Bainbridge House (built circa 1750). He foresees, for instance, a library operation meeting an ever-mounting demand for reader services, ranging from the enrichment of secondary school curricula and an expanded children's department to essential reference support for the business community and research enterprises.

An omnivorous reader, with capacity for digesting a volume an evening and scanning the majority of works he orders for the Library, Staples has been "book conscious" as long as he can remember. Born in Toms River, the son of a contractor, and a graduate of Toms River High, he moved beyond the confines of New Jersey as a member of the Class of 1953 at Oberlin College, Ohio, where he combined Honors in History with debating, publications and a series of stick-out performances as a varsity quarter-miler. The Armed Forces "beckoned" and back to Fort Dix he came for two years with the Library Division of Special Services.

A brief whirl in the field of retail merchandising (children's wear in Philadelphia with a national chain) gave him an opportunity to save the funds that carried him on to his Master's Degree in Library Science at Rutgers, which he continues to serve as a member of the Adjunct Faculty in its distinguished Library School. In 1957 he joined the Public and School Services Bureau of the far-flung State Library organization and for nearly three years organized Bookmobiles and related library ventures for the "dimly lit" tri-county area hinged on Bridgeton in the flatlands of South Jersey.

For so ably defining the mission of the public library; for communicating to others his enthusiasm for all "a real library" can mean to a community such as this; for demonstrating that a librarian is a competent "jack-of-all-trades"; he is TOWN TOPICS' nominee as

MOVE OVER!

Room For One More? Princeton's public schools have been in session for two weeks. Blase kindergarteners now walk confidently into classrooms where once they were shy, and high school freshmen know enough not to try a left turn at a corridor intersection during lunch period rush.

This year the shoe, that new and penny-bright loafer, is on the other foot. For years, the Township has braced itself each fall for the trampling stampede of children, children and more children. This year, the amount of increase is lower than any year since 1952.

But the Borough's Princeton High School is bursting, spilling, boiling over with youngsters. Its capacity is 1,500. It now has 1,736.

"We've been over 1,500 for some time," said Kenneth Michael, principal of the high school, "but this is the first year it's been really noticeable. We have 80 more than we had last year."

Got a Square Inch? Mr. Michael has deployed these 1,736 with the skill of a veteran military strategist. Every single conceivable space in the high school building is used for classrooms: the auditorium, the audio-visual room, the room that used to be a combination lunch-social room for seniors, a former paint storage room in the industrial arts department.

A big commercial room, outsized to accommodate bookkeepers' desks, has been divided into two classrooms. "We picked up one room when we dropped 'Ag,'" says Mr. Michael cheerfully. (Agricultural subjects are no longer taught at the high school.)

Classes in Health and Drivers' Education are held in the gym or outdoors. In the girls' gym, for example, two "Health" classes meet simultaneously, the girls sitting on the floor throughout the class period. Mr. Michael shrugs, "After all, 'Health' only meets once a week."

Every bit of classroom space is in use five periods out of the eight that compose the school day. Since the semester began, Mr. Michael and his staff have added another freshman English section, another Spanish 1, another Algebra 1 and, soon, another section in freshman science. These classes have been incorporated into the teaching schedules of men and women hired on a part-time basis, so that a heavier teaching load is not dumped on somebody already working to the hill.)

Before school started, three new classes had already been set up, so the high school now has seven more than it did last year.

Lo, the Poor Frosh. "It's the freshman class that feels it most," Mr. Michael said. "We have 30 more freshmen than we expected — parents who said they were sending their children to private schools and then changed their minds. That kind of thing."

Freshmen, for example, have a split lunch-study hall. They go to "study hall" for 20 minutes, then they eat lunch, then they come back to "study hall" for 20 more minutes.

"We know they can't really study in that time," Mr. Michael admits, "it's just a way of storing them."

Class size, that closely watched barometer of teaching quality, is about the same. The top limit has been 30 boys and girls to a class; now it may be 33.

Princeton High feels the real pinch in the large, all-school facilities like cafeteria, auditorium and gymnasiums. An extra lunch period has been added, making four. Only one class at a time can go to the auditorium, which meant that Mr. Michael had to make four separate "Welcome to Princeton High" speeches when the year opened. Locker space, especially for the girls' gym, is inadequate.

So far, it has not been necessary to set up a traffic pattern one-way stairwells, for example), but the density is high in those corridors when classes change. Overall, the impression is one of absolute order and no real crowding; that is, nobody sitting on window-sills, no split sessions.

Safety Valve. Dropping sending districts, like Montgomery Township and Hopewell Borough, would mean paring away about 60 pupils a year, which could make a great difference to the high school over a four-year period.

Both Montgomery and Hopewell Borough were notified long ago that this year would be the end of the line for their high school students. Montgomery is desperate and has asked the New Jersey State Commissioner of Education to compel the Borough to keep Montgomery students. The situation is a delicate one, and the only sound being made in public at the moment is that of heavy breathing.

Across That Line. In the Township, life is serene. Dr. John McKenna, superintendent of schools, told the school board last week that the municipality has 2,783 pupils. Of these, 667 attend Princeton High School.

"I just got that high school figure this afternoon," Dr. McKenna said as an aside. "When they use to count by hand, I got the total right after school started. Now they have IBM and I have to wait."

Dr. McKenna said he was surprised at the 667 tally. "I think it's about 10 or 12 less than that," he said. His surprise parallels Mr. Michael's. He didn't expect quite so many, either. The Township, incident-

Leaves Ready?

Township leaf - sweepers will start their annual tour of the municipality about October 1, Township engineer Frank Quinby announced Monday night.

Householders should rake their leaves to the edge of the curb, if there is one, to the edge of the right-of-way if there isn't. Leaves should not be piled in the gutter or in the street.

-ily, budgeted for the tuition of 659 high school students.

The Township opened its own schools, kindergarten through eighth grade, with 2,044 children. This is a new record for opening day, although it does represent the smallest amount of increase in 12 years. Between opening day and September 14, 71 more boys and girls showed up to make a total—so far—of 2,115. The Borough system, kindergarten through 12th grade, has 2,706.

On the private side, Miss Fine's this year has 349 girls, almost the same as last year. Now at the bursting point, the school had to turn down some girls, especially those hoping to get into grades five through eight, simply because there wasn't enough room. There are fewer applicants now for the upper school than in previous years.

Princeton Country Day, Miss Fine's brother school, has precisely the same enrollment as last year—except for one boy. This fall, enrollment is 212. Last fall, it was 213. However, the senior class of 32, with six new boys, is a record size. No one was turned away from PCD because there was no room.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED? PAHR Candueta Drive. "You are a taxpayer; you own property, you've got a family with a future, now you ought to register to vote!"

With this kind of half-scolding, half-cajoling, but wholly serious manner, Mrs. Daisy Woolridge of PAHR, has been successfully persuading residents of the Witherspoon-John Streets area to register for the November elections.

Registration will continue, 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. this Wednesday and Thursday, and 7 p.m. to 9 p.m. this Thursday, in both Borough and Township Halls. Deadline is Thursday at 9 p.m. Anyone who hasn't registered and needs transportation, should call PAHR, 924-2966.

Mrs. Woolridge is only one of PAHR's canvassers, of course. About two dozen volunteers have been ringing doorbells since mid-August, checking out each potential voter with a file of index cards, going back to bolster the uncertain ones.

"I've gotten people to register who haven't thought of voting in 15 years," said Wilbur Brooks, a PAHR canvasser. "It's exciting."

No exact figures are available on how many new voters were actually signed up by the PAHR squads, but Mrs. Woolridge can tick off the names of people she took personally in her car to the clerk's office. Other canvassers also gave voters a ride.

"You must explain, you must talk to them," Mrs. Woolridge says of her part in the campaign. "So many colored people say 'What's the use? What good would my vote do?' And it isn't just Negroes. Many times, Italian families are harder to crack and harder to convince!"

Mrs. Woolridge also found that in many households, Negro and Italian, the wife was a registered voter for some time, but not the husband. And—another feminist note—Mrs. Woolridge thinks she may have had better luck selling the idea of registration to men than some of PAHR's men canvassers.

Involvement. The part played by Negro residents in canvassing as well as registering, is significant, according to the Rev. Rowland Cox.

The Rev. Mr. Cox said that, of the 20 persons who came to PAHR's organization meeting for the registration drive, about 24 were Negroes. "This is the first PAHR meeting where Negroes have been in the majority," he said, "fewer than half of those 24 had ever been actively involved with PAHR before."

At the Mercer County Court House this week, Samuel A. Naples, secretary of the county election board, said that 9,484 new registrations had been recorded as of Friday, September 18. He expects another 3,000 new voters before the deadline this Thursday.

If these 3,000 materialize, Mercer County will have a record number of voters eligible to choose a president. In 1960, there were 139,000 eligible voters. This year, there were 134,000 at the start of the registration period.

CAR WASH?

New Ordinance Introduced. People have been trying off and on for months to get Township approval for a car-wash, but every time, the applicants are turned down because the Township's zoning ordinance says a specific "no" to auto laundries.

The Planning Board has suggested that the ordinance might be amended to allow laundries on lower Alexander Street (from the Borough line at the latitude of the Princeton Inn, to the canal) and Township Committee introduced the necessary amendment Monday night.

If it is adopted, applicants will still have to apply for a especial permit. Any Township car-wash will have to use public water and have an adequate private supply as a stop-gap, use the public sewer, treat waste water in a grease trap and promise not to use certain detergents; provide at least 25,000 square feet of space and no more than 80 decibles of noise, and produce an acceptable traffic pattern.

The Planning Board, having recommended the change, will get it back Monday night, October 5. Committee will then hold formal public hearing on Monday night, October 12.

Land for Books. Committee approved formally the decision to buy more land for the new public library to be built on Witherspoon and Wiggins. The amount involved is 1/20 of an acre, now the property of Public Service. Purchase price of $9,200 includes $2,500 for the land and $6,700 to relocate the fence and remove some high-tension equipment.

The library needs the additional land because test borings show the water-table at only six feet, which eliminates the possibility of a full basement. The new library will be two stories high. Without a basement, it will need either a third story or more land, and it is cheaper to buy the land than to build up.

"We met with Borough Council on the new library, and the sewer plant and incinerator," Mayor William L. Wilson commented. "We spent exactly an hour and a half on each one — about $4 million in public expenditure is involved in these two projects alone."

Committee voted, 4-1, to give Louis Simonye the contract for seeding Community Park: $9,650 for 20 acres. The Township has already bought the grass seed, just to make sure it gets the kind it wants.

The dissenter was Carl Schafer. Another bidder had come in with a lower bid 15 minutes too late to be counted, and presumably Mr. Schafer would have liked to start proceedings all over again with a view to saving money. However, Frank Quinby, Township engineer, reminded Committee that October is ahead and grass seeding won't wait.

Pop flies and foul balls will be restrained by a six-foot chain link fence, 2,086 feet long, running parallel to Route 206 and enclosing the south side of Community Park and its ball fields. Mr. Quinby hastily assured Committee that landscaping would screen the institutional baldness of the links. Anchor Post Fence won the contract with its low bid of $4,592.

G.O.P.'S FOR L.B.J.

Committee Formed Here. Organization of a Princeton Republicans for Johnson Committee has been announced. Its headquarters for the present will be Room 408, 20 Nassau Street.

Emphasizing its support of Republican candidates at the local, state and congressional levels, the committee urges a vote for Lyndon Johnson and Hubert Humphrey in the national election. Voting for Johnson and Humphrey is cited by the committee as "the only effective protest against the nomination of Barry Goldwater and William Miller."

Officers of the Republicans for Johnson Committee are: C. Pardee Foulke, chairman; David Blair Jr., vice-chairman; Amos Eno, treasurer, and R. Kenneth Fairman, secretary.

MORE FOR GOLDWATER

New Officers Named. The appointment of Mrs. Arthur Beddoe, 747 Nassau Street, as vice-chairman and of Arthur Rittmaster Jr., 114 Galbreath Drive, as public relations director has been announced by the Princeton Citizens for Goldwater-Miller. Robert C. Decker, chairman, also has announced that plans for the opening of a headquarters office are now being made.

Mrs. Beddoe will be in charge of all women's activities of the group's campaign in Borough and Township. Mr. Rittmaster will coordinate discussion-group activities.

CAR POOLS ADVISED

By Adult School. The Princeton Adult School opens this Thursday with one of the largest enrollments in its history—and a parking problem.

The Adult School Committee and the Princeton police departments suggest the formation of car pools as well as early arrival, since parking facilities at the high school are limited.

Enrollment is closed with the exception of the two lecture series scheduled for the auditorium, the German reading and conversation class, and the women's exercise class. The Committee invites residents to either register for the 10-lecture series, or to attend on a single admission basis.

Professor Willard Thorp of Princeton University will discuss "The Adventures of Augie March" by Saul Bellow at the opening class on the novel. "Near-Eastern Archeology Today" will be the subject of a lecture by Professor Philip Hammond at the second hour archeology series.

TASK FORCE NAMED

By Township Democrats. A Victory Task Force to work for the election of William M. Sloane as township committeeman has been formed, according to Harold Mantell, chairman of the Princeton Township Democratic Forum. Mayor Arthur J. Holland of Trenton will speak at the forum's first fall meeting next Wednesday at 8:30 p.m. in Community Park School.

Mayor Holland will speak on "The Future of our Cities and Suburbs," and Edward G. Wilms will address the meeting on local, state and national election strategy in the current campaign. Mr. Wilms is executive director of the Democratic State Committee.

Members of the task force are: Abe Seldner, campaign manager; John Strange, coordinator; Simeon Moss and Chester D'Arms, fund co-chairmen; Peter Mark, membership; John Yost, poster and leaflets; Mrs. Barbara Diamond, chairman of volunteers; Mrs. Florence Marcson and Mrs. Patience Hite, headquarters staff co-chairmen; Mrs. Delia Mark, chairman of campaign discussion groups; Mrs. Martha Sloane and Marianne Mantell, dinner-dance co-chairmen.

Coffee and refreshments will be served following the meeting on Wednesday, and

REPUBLICANS SPEAK

Borough, Township. "I see the future Princeton as a center for scholarship and the arts, a place where people want to raise their children because of its cultural and educational opportunities," said Fred M. English, Republican Borough Council candidate, this week.

Meanwhile, William L. Wilson, Republican incumbent seeking re-election to Township Committee, pledged continuing efforts for economical local government and a reduced real estate tax rate for municipal services, plus strong support for the Township's present zoning regulations and planning programs.

Mr. English said he regarded traffic congestion as the Borough's most pressing problem, and suggested diverting "through" non-stop traffic, especially trucks, from Nassau and other central streets. He believes that a by-pass should be given top priority.

Expressing the fear that some people might exploit Princeton as an industrial area and wipe out the community's unique flavor, Mr. English also pointed to those who dream of the past.

"Somewhere between these two extremes lies the true picture of Princeton's future," the candidate said.

Mr. Wilson, who is mayor of the Township, reminded voters that Township Committee has reduced the tax rate for local purposes in each of the last two years, the total reduction amounting to 6.34 points.

"Unless our tax rateables rise faster than municipal expenses, we will be in for higher taxes," the candidate said. "We can, by caution, prudence and a businesslike approach to every government decision and action, keep our expenses at a reasonable level while still providing good government and first rate municipal services."

Mr. Wilson also favors acceleration of the Township's Open Space and recreation programs, including the development of Community Park, expansion of the joint sewer system and incinerator plant, cooperation with the Borough and complete exploration of consolidation, based on the forthcoming Dilley report.

STUDY HALL REOPENS

Caldwell Is Chairman. Boys and girls who need help with their studies or who merely need a quiet place where they can do homework are once again welcome at the study hall of the Princeton Study Center. The quarters are located in the American Standard Building, 16 John Street.

Thomas Caldwell, chairman of the study hall committee, says that the facility will reopen on Monday and will be open from 7 p.m. to 9:30 p.m., Monday through Thursday while schools are in session. Last year the study hall was used by over 200 students.

"In addition to a paid director, five or six volunteers will be on hand each evening to help students with math, science, English, history and social studies," Mr. Caldwell states. "And at least once a week there will be someone present who can also help with various foreign languages, shorthand and bookkeeping."

Quarters for the study hall are made available by American Standard, which uses them as a training center during the day, and a staff of 45 volunteers will take turns serving as study assistants and as receptionists. The Princeton Study Center also sponsors a tutoring program which will get under way in a few weeks, according to Helen Shimberg, president of the center.

BOY, 6, IS STRUCK

On Bunker Hill Road. William Wilkinson, 6, son of Mrs. Barbara Wilkinson, Bunker Hill Road, was injured early Tuesday morning when he ran from his driveway into the path of an oncoming car Bunker Hill Road runs off Canal Road just north of the Kendall Park Shopping Center.

The youth was taken by the car's driver, Nora Murphy of Bunker Hill, to Princeton Hospital where his condition was listed as fair. He received possible abdominal injuries, a laceration of his left eyebrow and contusions and abrasions.

Princeton State Police reported that the driver swerved into the opposite lane in an unsuccessful attempt to avoid hitting the child. They said the boy apparently did not see the car. The accident happened just a few minutes before his school bus was due to arrive.

Two VWs Rolled, One VW was reduced to scrap metal and a second was badly damaged Saturday when both left the road in separate accidents.

Driving north on Route 206, Richard J. Gulick, 20 Somerville, swerved to avoid hitting a car, crossed into the opposite

THE WONDER ROLL-ON GARTER IN A BOTTLE

Freedom from "garter bulge". . . freedom from "garter runs". . . freedom from sagging stockings . . . freedom from confining garter belts.

Now with ULTRA HOLD all you do is put on your stocking, turn down three inches, roll on magic ULTRA HOLD and press the stocking into place. It stays in place. We've tested it on the tennis court, during strenuous exercising, in regular day-to-day wear — stockings stay up with no sagging, no slipping. Guaranteed or your money back!

How do you get it off? Simply peel off the stocking. Water-soluble ULTRA HOLD washes right off your leg, your stocking. It's non-toxic, non-irritating.

Perfect under slinky sheaths and slim pants, no embarrassing hint of garters. For knee-length, bobbin and tennis socks, too.

Because it's a roll-on, the 3 month supply fits neatly into your purse . . . goes unnoticed to the beach, to the office, to the club, to gym class. Imagine, all this for $3.00. Another fashion first from Items Inc. New York, N.Y. Spokane, Washington.

FOLK SINGER: Theodore Bikel will give a McCarter Theatre concert Saturday—the first musical event of the new season.

News Of The THEATRES

McCARTER PLAYBILL Coming. The audience will be invited to join the company on stage next Thursday after McCarter opens its fall drama series with "Death of a Salesman."

The traditional on-stage reception following the opening night performance will serve to introduce, in more intimate perspective, William Swetland and Olive Dunbar who will portray the leading roles of Willy and Linda in Arthur Miller's modern classic.

Curtain time, by the way, will be 8 p.m. On Friday and Saturday, the usual 8.30 curtain will be observed.

Veteran of many seasons with the San Diego Shakespeare Festival, Mr. Swetland was on the acting, directing and teaching staff on the Cleveland Playhouse for 13 years. Miss Dunbar co-starred with John Carradine in the national company of Archibald Macleish's "J.B."

● Before Miller, there was Dickens. Emlyn Williams as Charles Dickens will step to the lectern on Monday, September 28 at 8.30, offering to his Princeton audience some new material, including the "Schooldays" section of "David Copperfield," part of the Sydney Carton story from "A Tale of Two Cities" and the bedtime story from one of the "Christmas Tales."

● At midnight Friday, October 2, Carlos Montoya will bring his Spanish gypsy guitar to Princeton for the fifth time. He has played with consistent success here each time — or he wouldn't keep coming back'

● For another night in October, McCarter has scheduled "Spoon River," based on Edgar Lee Masters' "Spoon River Anthology."

It will play Princeton on Monday, October 5 — one night only. "Spoon River" offers a poignant, sometimes hilarious picture of mid-western American life in the early 1900's, with a general effect much like "Our Town."

THAT MAN BOGART And Hitchcock. Although they never made a picture together, Humphrey Bogart and Alfred Hitchcock will co-star in the 1964-65 Classic Film Series at McCarter Theatre.

Starting Tuesday October 6, at 8 p.m., McCarter will offer "The Petrified Forest," continuing on successive Tuesdays with "The Maltese Falcon," "Casablanca," "To Have and Have Not," "Key Largo" and "The Treasure of Sierra Madre," all vintage Bogart.

In the second half, McCarter will show Hitchcock's "The 39 Steps," "North by Northwest," "The Lady Vanishes," "Notorious," "Suspicion" and Vertigo."

Subscription blanks are available at the McCarter box-office or by mail from Box 526, Princeton.

GARDEN AND PRINCE

Becket (now showing) has enough pomp and circumstance, panoply and ceremony to make any self-respecting Gobelin tapestry turn pale with envy. A religio-political (or, politico-religious) spectacle in the grand manner, it might also have been nothing else and have emerged as a pretty hohum spread of 12th century England. But that's not the case.

Unlikely as it may seem, "Becket" is a dashing and intriguing narrative, told with cerebral wit and charm, of two men — Thomas Becket and King Henry II, their close friendship, subsequent enmity and ultimate tragic conflict. Taken from Jean Anouilh's skillful rewording of history and starring Richard Burton as Beckett and Peter O'Toole as the king, it has been handsomely adapted for the screen by Director Hal Wallis.

For, while "Becket" may exceed any tapestry in color and in brilliance as an illustrated review of a significant part of the Middle Ages, it also is exceptionally fine drama as the close-up story of two characters in conflict. It is a first - rate production in all respect.

THE PLAYHOUSE

Hamlet (Wednesday and Thursday only) shows, it could be said, what happens when Will Shakespeare and Tom Swift collaborate on a movie. For this is Burton's "Hamlet" of last year on Broadway brought to the screen in Princeton by a new electronic, photographic device called, just as Tom would have called it, "electronovision."

Electronovision, which just might be giving the major movie studios something new to worry about, makes possible the filming of stage hits right in their native habitat. It is, in effect, a new kind of road show — done on film.

When last season's "Hamlet" became the first official testing ground for electronovision, over a quarter of the guest audience in the theater were Princetonians. So here's your chance to see a fine production of Shakespeare's old faithful, and maybe some of your friends and neighbors on screen as well.

Kisses for My President (Friday through Tuesday) bears small resemblance to anything by Shakespeare — or to anything by Tom Swift, for that matter. It concerns the taming of a shrew, albeit a relatively innocuous one, who becomes the first woman President of the United States and her husband who does the taming.

Polly Bergen is Mrs. President and Fred MacMurray is cast in the unenviable role of First Spouse, or whatever such a man's title will eventually be. While his wife runs the country, Fred runs The White House.

The idea of there being a Madam President is not a new one (after all, Margaret Chase Smith might have made it this year). And, as a theme for a film comedy, it has considerable promise. Unfortunately, like many candidates, this one doesn't live up to its promises, and "Kisses for My President" ends up with about as much humor to it as this past summer's conventions.

Princeton Regional Ballet Company will hold auditions this Sunday at the Princeton Ballet Society Studio, 262 Alexander Street.

The Regional Committee has invited Mrs. E. Virginia Williams of the Boston Ballet to serve as judge. Alex Dolinoff of Montclair will conduct a class in barre and center work as part of the auditions.

Two groups of dancers will be formed: a junior company for dancers 12 to 14, and a senior unit for those 15 and up. Toe work is required of seniors only.

The Princeton Regional Ballet has contracted to produce a ballet at Christmas, December 19, 20 and possibly the 21st. A program of original and classic works was presented

IT'S NEW To Us

BOB LANG OPENS

In Shopping Center. Bob Lang has moved his appliances, large and small, from the Route 206 shop to quarters in the Princeton Shopping Center so commodious that they might well fill a 23-inch TV screen and spill out over the edges.

The new Bob Lang has a wide-open door on both the west side of the Mall, and the west side of the Center, next to Rosette Pennington. There's a welcome mat in full and living color.

Which reminds us, and Mr. Lang, that color TV is the big new show this fall. Here you will find RCA, Admiral, Magnavox, from $359 to $1295, the big ones having all kinds of remote control devices, intricate cabinetry and the like. Motorola, incidentally, has a 23-inch tube, bigger than the usual 21-inch color.

Magnavox' black and white TV console carries the firm's Gold Seal warranty, giving a one year guarantee covering parts and labor, and a three-year guarantee on the picture tube.

Portable TV, for people who want to pace election news with a set in every room, comes in 11, 16 and 19-inch screens and price tags sized from $99 to $199. Now everybody in the family can choose his favorite, and no squabbles. You can argue later about who pays the $199.

Magnavox' stereo sets are probably the aristocrats in the Bob Lang family. Splendid constructions five feet long, fashioned in walnut, mahogany and so on, they are styled for any home, French Provincial, Danish modern or who are you?

Magnavox features an all-transistorized set-up, which means that you get a stability not possible with tubes. "Astro-Sonic Solid State Circuitry" is about as impressive as anything we ever heard of. What music can you play on a piece like that except Bach?

The stereo arrangement in the Magnavox places bass speakers on the sides, and 1000-cycle treble horns on front, for optimum stereophonic effect. You start at $149.95 but you may consider the $895 if you wish. Bob Lang has no objection.

If your demands are more modest, Bob Lang has clock radios, AM-FM radios, small transistor radios and electric toothbrushes. You should hear the hi-fi sounds an eight-year-old boy can get with an electric toothbrush.

Out in the kitchen you will want Hotpoint, Kelvinator, Admiral, Westinghouse, Frigidaire in stoves or refrigerators. Color here, too, with an even wider screen than 23 inches.

Our favorite at Bob Lang is a 1.5 cu. ft. refrigerator, cutest thing you ever saw ($79.95). Students put them in their rooms, but you could use one for den, guest room or bar. It looks like a gleaming little white carton sitting there on the floor. Other refrigerators climb a little higher on the wall and on the price scale, some of them achieving $800.

Washers and driers are here, of course, including Easy automatic and the Spin-Dri, Hotpoint, Kelvinator and the rest.

Small appliances include, besides that toothbrush, toasters and coffee-makers (2-cup to 30-cup), hair-driers and the Sunbeam Mixmaster hand mixer with its four cups and saucer-plates in a set.

Bob Lang will be open every Monday, Thursday and Friday night until 9.

FOUR ME A FLOOR

Ellerbe Says "OK". You lay on this floor with a trowel, and five coats later, you have a seamless, resilient, wear-ever floor as handsome as anything you'd find in a terrazzo theatre lobby.

It's Torginol Duresque, developed in Germany before the war, imported to this country in 1960 and, until now, only available on the west coast. Braxton Ellerbe has obtained the first Mercer County franchise, and if he's enthusiastic about it with his years of flooring experience, you can be sure it's a pretty good thing.

We say "you" lay the floor on with a trowel; actually, only Mr. Ellerbe or one of his five-man crew is equipped to do the job. This is no husband-on-Saturday project, and the Ellerbe establishment spent a week at the factory learning how to do it precisely and well.

Torginol Duresque is a urethane, and it can be poured on top of any kind of existing floor except one laid with black adhesive (many vinyls have been laid with black adhesive).

Choose the color you like best from one of 22 hasics. Then select the color chips you think would blend best with the basic color, and with your kitchen, den or bathroom. Perhaps Mr. Ellerbe has shown a you marbelized effect you like very much except for a touch of blue. Very well, he will leave out the blue when he pours the floor for you, and you'll have exactly the color combination you want.

The chips are down during the pouring of the third coat, and the two final coats batten everything in and down. You can walk on the floor in 12-24 hours, but it takes a couple of days really to season.

A MAN AND A FLOOR: The entry of the Witherspoon Presbyterian Church parish house has been done in the new Torginol Duresque flooring, and Braxton Ellerbe, whose company has the sole franchise for Torginol in this area, shows how the floor goes on—smooth, and with a trowel.

TO REPEAT "TUNNEL" At South Brunswick. The Commuters of South Brunswick will go another round this Friday and Saturday with their production of "Tunnel of Love." Curtain time is 8:30 at South Brunswick High School.

Directed by George Philcox, the play was presented this summer at Roosevelt Park. Tickets for repeat performances are half price.

The cast includes Ruth Kaufman, Sally Goldwasser, Gladie Abell, Roy Minton, Larry Zajac and Gemma Philcox. The high school is located on Major Road off U. S. 1, in Monmouth Junction.

"The Alchemist" Has Strong Princeton Flavor

Stuart Duncan, Princeton's off-Broadway impresario, opened a revival of Ben Johnson's "The Alchemist" off-Broadway last week, and although New York critics did not faint at their typewriters for very joy, they didn't go dead either, and Mr Duncan says that "The Alchemist" will run a less until January 1.

"We are definitely established," the producer said. "After January 1 — we'll see."

"The Alchemist" broke The Gate Theatre's records for first week ticket sales. The Gate has been open since 1956, and among the happiest recipients of this news were Mr Duncan's many Princeton backers.

The play, a classic with "guts and gusto," in Mr. Duncan's words, is a sardonic and fast-moving comedy. "Every critic," said Mr. Duncan with delight, "used the word 'bawdy.'"

This is Mr Duncan's fourth off-Broadway production. Two others, Bernard Shaw's "Misalliance" and "Under the Sycamore Tree," were successful. Gertrude Stein's "Yes Is for a Very Young Man" was withdrawn before opening night.

MUSICIANS READY

For Concert Series. Twelve concerts will bring to Princeton's music lovers this season the talents of soloists and ensembles and the return to Princeton of the Concert Orchestra of New Jersey, known also as the Princeton Chamber Orchestra.

In the Princeton University Concert Series I — already sold out, and available to latecomers only through standing room — the season will begin on Monday October 12 with the Festival Orchestra of New York under Thomas Dunn.

A small orchestra which is able to flex its size according to the demands of a given composer, The Festival Orchestra has promised for Princeton the concert versions of an opera by Purcell and, hopefully, Stravinsky's "Pulcinella."

Following this group, William Warfield will appear in Princeton on November 9. After a holiday gap, the series will resume on January 11 with Loren Hollander, the young pianist who was the first soloist to record with the Boston Symphony under Leinsdorf.

On February 16 — a Tuesday, this time — the Cleveland Orchestra will come to Princeton, resuming its annual appearance here after a year's absence. The series will conclude on March 22 with Nathan Milstein.

Juilliard First. Series II will open on Monday October 19, with a concert by the Juilliard Quartet. This is the group that introduced to Princeton audiences, in 1949, the six quartets of Bela Bartok.

Beveridge Webster will follow on November 16. Then there is a three month hiatus before the New York Pro Musica on February 8, with its director, Noah Greenberg and its repertoire of medieval and renaissance music.

On March 1, Series II will present Maureen Forrester, the contralto who has been referred to, in somewhat un dignified fashion, as "Canada's greatest natural resource since gold was discovered in the Klondike." The series will come to a close on April 5 with the Concert Orchestra of New Jersey, under Nicholas Harsanyi.

This is the group that made its debut this summer during the Tercentennial Music Festival and is now sometimes referred to as the Princeton Chamber Orchestra.

As a bonus for Princeton concert-goers, University Concerts will offer two chamber groups under the heading, "McCosh Hall Concerts." The Beaux Arts Trio will play in McCosh 10 on Monday, December 7, and the Philadelphia String Quartet will perform on Friday, March 12, with Janice Harsanyi as soloist.

Information concerning Series II subscriptions may be obtained from Mrs. Maida Pollock, Woolworth Center of Musical Studies, Princeton University. Mrs. Pollock's office hours are 2-5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and she may be reached at 924-0453.

Single tickets for each concert will be on sale two weeks before the date at McCarter Theatre, and at the McCarter box office the evening of each performance.

READY, SINGERS? Opera Workshop to Begin. Training in music and drama will be available to singers who join the Princeton Opera Association's annual Fall Workshop, scheduled to start on Tuesday, October 29.

Igor Chichagov will assign operatic roles and supervise dramatic and musical progress during a ten week period, assisted by Maude Currie from the Manhattan School of Music in New York City. Miss Currie will stress acting, Mr Chichagov will emphasize singing.

Workshop sessions last for three hours, and will be held once each week in the Sunday School room of the Princeton Methodist Church.

Singers who have not yet auditioned may make arrangements by calling Mrs. Frank Sehley, 921-2148 or Mrs. E. G. Weyer, 924-4284.

Beauty ON THE SQUARE

By: Archimedes (Bernard)

Your nails break for a variety of reasons. Diet deficiencies, too much immersion in sudsy water, careless filing and neglect, are prime causes of nail breakage.

Correcting a diet deficiency as a step toward healthier, hardier nails calls for a balanced diet, rich in Vitamin A and including Vitamin D. Citrus fruits, milk, honey, liver, nuts and grapes are particularly helpful in correcting this problem.

Let's consider another problem — one relating to your hair. Whatever the cause, if your hair just simply does nothing for you, you have a problem which will be beautifully corrected at TAVERNWOOD. Pert, provocative permanents are a specialty at TAVERNWOOD BEAUTY MANOR & COSMETIC SHOP, 69 Palmer Square West. Phone 924-3983 . . . "Preferred by Particular Women." Open 6 days a week, plus Thurs. and Fri. evenings . . . Specialists in permanents and body waves.

•HELPFUL HINT: Nail hardeners in powder, cream or liquid form are worth a try. Colorless enamels also take the place of a base coat.

Lights!

Evening shoes at Nassau Shoe Tree are always like an invitation to an exciting party.

This year it's open house, with open styles everywhere. Look at Jacques Levin's twist sandal, a scandal, really, in black peau de soie with almost nothing but sole and heel. Consider Mademoiselle's black velvet sling (seductive!) with narrow satin strap edging the side ($19.99). Choose "Flair" with its open sides and open heel and slim V-strap.

All out for gaiety? Here's a sling of rhinestones continuing around the throat of a gold sandal, here's a silver-and-gold French brocade or a gold lame with eyelets piercing the vamp and a tiny cluster of stones.

R.S.V.P.? We'll be there!

terrazzo. In its solid state, as the physicists say, Torginol is a plain color with a slightly rippled texture; however, these ripples are not deep enough to catch the dirt, they merely give interest to what would otherwise be a slick surface.

Dirt, did we say? This floor needs absolutely no, repeat no, maintenance. Swipe it with a damp mop. That's all. No wax, no detergents, no scrubbing. Even chewing gum just sweeps off. Stiletto heels make no impression at all.

This sounds great for a house, of course, but institutional use is the big future for Torginol. Because the floors are seamless, they can be used in places like hospitals or laboratories where staph infection control may be a problem. It is magnificent over cinder block. It won't crack, even if the slab is poured on cracks. It's non-skid. It can be used on walls for a single sweep of texture.

It's great outdoors, too, and Mr. Ellerbe has already laid a delightful apron around all sides of a swimming pool. Unlike ceramic tile, it has no grout points. Well, we could go on. . . .

Price is about half that of ceramic tile. Because of the five coats involved, it is impossible to give an accurate figure for cost; Mr. Ellerbe himself would have to do that after he sees your house. Just let's say that a two or three room installation — bathroom, kitchen and den, would probably be more economical than a single room.

Mr. Ellerbe may be reached at 924-9736.

lane and into a field where he turned over. His car was a total loss. The mishap happended at 2.35 in the morning not far from Mary Watts' store.

Mr Gulick was taken to Princeton Hospital where he was treated for abrasions of the shoulder and a laceration of the ear which required three sutures. Township Police reported Mr. Gulick as saying he did not know what had happened and that he though he was on Route 27 heading for New Brunswick. He was ticketed for careless driving.

Later that morning, Mrs. Nancy L. Vagl, 20, 179 Washington Road, Rocky Hill, driving on Mt. Lucas Road, hit a slippery spot and turned over. She told police that as she was making a turn near Herrontown Road, her car skidded into the other lane, hit a four-foot high bank and turned over on its right side, damaging the roof and side of her 1964 VW.

She was treated for contusions of the thighs and knee abrasions. Police made no charges.

On Friday, Bennie L. Owle, 34, of Trenton, was charged with careless driving when he Tree on Palmer Square has Golos in these high insteps that make you look like Robin and the Seven Hoods. One boot-like flat has an inlay of black on suede. Another, trim as an ankle, has a punched design, and its sections come together as though they needed lacing, but they stay together without it. A warm spicey mustard brown on this one, and just made for your new pair of cotton lace stockings.

Ankle height on a boot of wet sand and black, secured by elastic going across the back. Wear this one when it's cool but not cold enough for a big boot. $12.95.

Incidentally, Shoe Tree has many shoes in those wonderful autumnal mist shades that slide from spice to taupe to wet sand and back again — you'll just have to stop in and see for yourself whether it's your shade of brown or not.

By the way, did you know that Shoe Tree now has Capezio? Look at those delicious little skimmers, especially the one whose instep strap makes a shy half moon at the vamp.

Well, back up on the heels again. Here is Mannequin's tobacco suede, soft as can be, with punched out design aand stacked heel. The red suede with its undetone of terra-cotta is particularly good in this shoe. And look at the true classic brogue in spice brown ($19.99) a shoe you'll wear for years and years to come.

Plum, Minton blue (bright navy) and Pine Green cashmere suede give you a choice in a walking shoe by Mademoiselle. Calf makes the trim.

From the craftsmen of Pazzizo, Shoe Tree has a mid-heel calf in autumn haze with a narrow scroll of silk suede around the edge, ($24.95) and De Liso Deb shows a combination of brushed satin gold with fine tobacco suede ($19.99). Bags match both of these outstanding "after-five" shoes.

ran into the rear of a parked car in front of 150 Valley Road. The other car was owned by Wilson Esposito of Rocky Hill. Mr. Owle received a laceration of the upper lip. Time of the accident: 9 p.m.

In the Borough, a three-inch indentation at the intersection of Vandeventer and Nassau spilled George W. Good III, 17, and Edmund T. Waters, 18, 115 Longview Drive, when the motorcycle they were riding hit it at 3.55 Sunday morning. Police said the indentation was guarded by a flashing red light.

Both boys were treated at Princeton Hospital, Good for a fractured right leg and injured thumb and Waters for lacerations of the right leg. The former was the driver.

Kenneth J. Bartolino, 6, 57 N. Tulane Street, received a possible bone chip of his left ankle Friday when he walked in front of a car on Spring Street driven by Shirley J. Burdge, 29, Ridge Road, Monmouth Junction. Borought Police in making no charges, said that Mrs. Burdges's vision had been obstructed by a parked truck. Young Kenneth was taken to his family doctor by his parents.

DR. BLACK TO SPEAK

To League Members. Dr. Cyril E. Black will speak on "East-West Trade" at the annual membership tea of the Princeton League of Women Voters. The tea will be held next Wednesday at 8.15 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Jackson Martindell, 132 Elm Road. All women interested in League activities are invited to attend.

Professor of Russian history at Princeton University, Dr. Black has served both the United States government and the United Nations in Russia and Eastern Europe. During one of his many visits to Russia he was a member of a three-man delegation which held a two-hour interview with Mr. Khruschev.

Dr. Black spent his boyhood in Turkey and Bulgaria. In the years since then, he has become a leading authority on eastern Europe and has published many books on international affairs. He will be introduced to League members and prospective members by Mrs. James Fenton, president of the organization.

WHY THE FLAGS?

Constitution Day. An unannounced display of flags puzzled strollers on Nassau Street last Thursday. One elderly lady said to a passer-by, "I taught American history for 30 years, and I don't think anything happened on September 17. . . ."

She was wrong. September 17, 1787 was the day the Constitution was adopted by the Constitutional Convention in Phildelphia, and the Princeton Chamber of Commerce, reminded by the DAR and the CAR, decided to ask merchants to display their flags.

"Operation Flag" is sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce and by business firms who buy the flags through Princeton Post 76, American Legion. The next display day will be Veterans Day, November 11.

HOSPITAL COMMENDED

Wins Full Accreditation. Princeton Hospital received last week commendation from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals along with the commission's certificate of approval, coveted symbol of excellence in hospital care, according to George W Conover, president of the board of trustees.

Reaccreditation for another period of three years was received in a letter praising the hospital for "maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care."

Princeton Hospital has been awarded full accreditation ever since the formation of the Joint Commission in 1952. Composed of representatives from the American College of Physicians, the American College of Surgeons, the American Hospital Association, the commission is the organization charged with the responsibility of rating the nation's hospitals.

$5 and $5 costs Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tams Jr. for careless driving. Both pleaded not guilty.

Fined $10 each and $5 costs were Charles F. Tuson, 24, Skillman, for speeding, and Benjamin R. Warren, 21, 52 Bayard Lane, improper display of plates. In criminal court, Mrs. Gloria S. Grover, 31, paid $15 and $10 costs as a disorderly person. She was charged with being drunk and disorderly in the vicinity of her home, 19 Lytle Street.

STOLEN BIKES RECOVERED

Trenton Youths Confess. At least seven bicycles, including an expensive racing bike, stolen from Princeton have been recovered in Trenton as a result of some fine police work by Sergeant James Koplmer, Borough juvenile officer.

Six Trenton juvenile have been apprehended and turned over to the Trenton Juvenile Bureau. According to the police, they would take a bus to Princeton and return to Trenton by stolen bike. There they would strip them down and resell them. Chief of Police Peter J. McCrohan said that it was hard to estimate exactly how many bikes the gang had stolen.

SUBSCRIPTIONS WANTED

Benefit PTA Scholarships. The annual October magazine subscription campaign of the Princeton High School PTA begins this Thursday with nearly 200 women taking part. A record $2,400 was raised last year for scholarships.

Mrs. Carl Sonnenschein is chairman of the Scholarship Fund-raising Committee, and Mrs. Frederick C. Wightman Jr. is co-ordinator of the magazine drive. Assisting them are: Mrs. Humbolt W. Leverence, PTA president; Mrs. Edward F. Eicher, Fund treasurer, and Mrs. Charles A. Stokes, assistant treasurer.

PTA members in charge of obtaining captains for Princeton are Mrs. Geoffrey W. Rake, Mrs. William Mendez, Mrs. William H. Haldane, Mrs. John P. Cleaver and Mrs. A. Rommel Ambrose.

For the sending districts, Mrs. Curtis W. Brandon, Plainsboro, Mrs. Donald B. Sparrow, West Windsor, Mrs. Walter W. McCarthy, Rocky Hill; Mrs. John M. Cronwell, Hopewell, and Mrs. Harold L. Warner, Montgomery Township.

Up to 50 percent of the cost of each new or renewal subscription is retained for the Scholarship Fund, at no extra cost to the subscriber. Prices are standard, although special promotion offers are also honored if accompanied by a notice sent out by the publisher.

Subscription should be sent and checks made payable to "PTA Scholarship Fund, c/o Princeton High School, Princeton, N. J."

Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Sonnenschein, 921-0580, Mrs. Eicher, 921-2667, or Mrs. Stokes 921-2724.

Scholarships were awarded in June to 12 PHS seniors: John Campbell, Mete Hoge, Richard Rodefeld, Alexis Hoagland, Larry Madden, Clifford Corleyou, Paul Eisler, Lynda Geier, Anna Pinelli, Pamela Stalcup, David Turner and Richard Woodhull.

University's 218th academic year on Sunday in the University Chapel.

The student body this year numbers 3,116 undergraduates, 816 of whom are freshmen. The graduate school has enrolled 1,180 candidates.

Sixty-four new faculty members are on the roster, bringing the total to 786, including 155 part-time assistants in instruction. Twelve of the newcomers have the rank of professor. Professional research and technical staff at the university now number 578, including 175 research assistants.

Ten women are among the 25 undergraduates from other colleges who are enrolled in the experimental "Cooperative Program for Critical Languages," now beginning its second year. Backed by a grant from Carnegie Corporation of New York it is based on a growing need to train individuals in such critical languages as Arabic, Chinese, Japanese, Persian and Turkish.

At the Woodrow Wilson School of Public and International Affairs, 19 Federal officials are enrolled in a career furtherance program. There are also 10 "Parvin Fellows," drawn from South Africa, India, the Sudan, Iran, Chile, Tanganyika and Southern Rhodesia. Not candidates for degrees, they are selected as men of promise for public careers in the developing nations.

New Unit. "Career and Study Services," a new administrative organization, will work towards more thoughtful career decisions. It will be directed by Newell Brown, Class of 1939, a former U.S. assistant Secretary of Labor for employment and manpower.

The unit consolidates the former placement bureau and counseling service. It will be concerned with problems which impair a student's capacity to learn and other enviromental matters.

Dean of the College J. Merrill Knapp has announced the expansion of the Board of Advisors. The number of freshmen assigned to an advisor will be reduced from around 60 to 30 or less and each academic department will be represented.

"AUTUMN SHOWCASE"

It Will Aid Hospital. "Autumn Showcase," a preview of fall fashions from Bellows of Princeton, will be presented Wednesday at the Princeton Country Club by the Woman's Club of Princeton. All proceeds are earmarked for the Princeton Hospital building fund.

Following a noon luncheon, Paul and Mary Ritts, TV entertainers, will direct the presentation of fashions. The collection will range from new Italian knits, suits, coats, evening wear to teen-age fashions and will also include children's apparel. All seats are reserved.

Members of the Women's Club will be among the models and will include: Mrs. Ted Dean, Mrs. Stephen H. Beach, Mrs. George L. Berry, Mrs. Sylvan G. Bushey, Mrs. Henry Abrams, Mrs. Peter C. Holnback II, Mrs. F. Robert Michael, Mrs. James S. Norris, Mrs. Paul Pearce, Mrs. C. Paul Schafer, Mrs. Carl Sonnenschein, Mrs. Walton Van Winkle, Jr., Mrs. Paul A. Ashton, Mrs. Bryce Thompson, Mrs. Frank A. Holman, Mrs. Kenneth H. Sternkopf, Mrs. Paul W. Moore, Mrs. John D. Rockwell, Mrs. Roy M. Vance and Mrs. James A. Arnold, Jr.

From the younger set will be: Rebecca Clark, Carolyn Yoder, Roger Holnback, Judy Sands, Jeffrey Sands, Annette Schafer, Diane Holnback, Nina Norris, Ann Winters, Deborah Michael, Karen Holman and Randy Cox.

Mrs. Kenneth H. Sternkopf, Mrs. Roy Vance and Mrs. Norman D. Kelley will provide information on tickets.

TO MODEL FOR BUILDING FUND: Modeling children's apparel for the fashion show being sponsored by the Princeton Woman's Club of Princeton to benefit the Princeton Hospital Building Fund are Rebecca Clark, Carolyn Yoder and Roger Holnback. The fashion show and luncheon will be held October 1 at the Princeton Country Club.

TWO EVENTS PLANNED

By Princeton Day Schools. The Princeton Day Schools will hold cornerstone ceremonies at 4:30 Sunday at the new school site on the Great Road. Next Thursday, October 1, the program committee will sponsor a panel discussion on college admissions, at Miss Fine's School.

Mrs. J. Richardson Dilworth, chairman of the board of trustees, will be assisted at the cornerstone-laying by representatives of the student body of Miss Fine's School and Princeton Country Day School. A reception honoring the principal, Thomas B. Hartmann, and Mrs. Hartmann, follows. The new school, scheduled to open in the fall of 1965, is 30 percent complete.

Panelists at next week's session will discuss "The Wide Spectrum" of colleges for students of varying interests and abilities. Members include Emery R. Walker Jr., dean of admissions for three colleges (Claremont Men's, Harvey Mudd, and Pitzer); Miss Mary L. Tillette, admissions director at Randolph-Macon Woman's College; John Muyskens Jr., admissions director, St. Lawrence University, and Everard K. Pinnco, formerly admissions director, University of Pittsburgh and Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute, now associate director of facilities and research at the State University of New York.

WRINKLES

by Marie Davant

New York — Chemical science has found a white substance made with quicksilver that works wonders on wrinkled, roughened face and hands. Use it one time and it is entirely possible you will see improvement next morning. In a few days dry-skin wrinkles start to vanish. Many of the small ones around the eyes and mouth have already disappeared. But that is not all! "Old-Age" (weathered) brown spots on hands and arms — brown "age" darkness on surface of face and neck fades away! Rich oils lubricate pores so blackheads can slip out without squeezing. Surface pimples and blemishes and scars, outwardly caused, dry up or become less noticeable! But don't take my word for it. Make a 6-day test without risking one penny. Just get a jar of Peacock's Imperial Creme at your favorite department or drug store. Use this thrilling cream for 6-days — and if you are not delighted with results, full price will be refunded. No questions asked. Peacock's Imperial Creme can work wonders for wrinkles, lines, brown spots and other weathered blemishes. You may obtain Imperial Cresme for $2.00 plus tax from Marsh & Co., 30 Nassau. Clip this out.

Is Duty More Important Than Happiness? Would You Disobey An Unjust Law?

These are but a few questions asked and argued by Sophocles' Antigone, one of 16 readings in the GREAT BOOKS DISCUSSION SERIES. Some others are: Plato's Apology, Machiavelli's The Prince, Marx's The Communist Manifesto, Thoreau's Walden, etc.

Participation:	limited to 20 adults regardless of previous education who are interested in reading and discussing ideas
Meetings:	every Tuesday 7:30 - 9:00 p.m. starting October 6th
Place:	Princeton YMCA, Avalon Place
Cost:	$9.50 (which includes set of 16 readings)
Registration:	Princeton YWCA, Sept. 28th, 7:30-8:30, Room 127

The club also plans bridge groups and neighborhood coffees. Information on membership may be hotained from Mrs. C. Richard Whelan, chairman, 021-2045.

CULTURAL ARTS?

School to Explore. "This would be completely apart from the traditional approach of performance or appreciation it would give youngsters a chance to be creative."

Dr. John McKenna, Township superintendent of schools, told the School Board Thursday night that this was the idea behind a proposed Performing Arts program for Township school children. And he added, "It would keep these kids from the strait jacket a lot of us find ourselves in, when they are grown and have leisure time."

As outlined Thursday, the program would involve drama, music and dance. Guided by experienced adults, children would dramatize everyday occurances, developing their own script. Small groups of youngsters would listen to a live string quartet, "reacting to music, not just appreciating it," in Dr McKenna's description. Children would do ballet or folk-dancing themselves, and would also explore the culture aspect of the dance.

Because of the highly experimental nature of the program it has never been attempted on the elementary school level, Dr McKenna said — the superintendent said he would like to ask various foundations about the possibility of financial support, and the school board authorized him to go ahead.

"Pros" Needed. Dr. McKenna estimates that the program would take three or four years to develop fully. He told the board that professional musicians and other "able, talented people" would have to be used and he said he would rather postpone the project than compromise on ability.

"This would help boys and girls who aren't scientifically or academically oriented, to find themselves," commented Mrs. Robert Sinkler, Board member.

Richard Pearson, Board president, suggested that recommendations of the Citizens' Committee, including the possibility of planning a Township high school or working toward a Borough-Township merger, might take up all the energies of school board and staff in the next four years, and he questioned the timing of the Performing Arts proposal.

Dr. McKenna said that the staff, particularly Mrs. Bani Shorter, enrichment co-ordinator whose idea it was, had been thinking about the program for about a year, because they were concerned about creativity in the schools.

MEETING THURSDAY

Of Eastern Star. Princeton Chapter 91, Order of the Eastern Star, will hold its first meeting of the fall season Thursday evening at 8 at the Masonic Lodge, 350 Nassau Street. Mrs. Arthur Loftus will preside.

On October 15, the group will hold a card party, starting at 8 p.m., at Miss Pine's School.

PROGRESS REPORTED

By Parenthood Unit. Planned Parenthood of the Mercer Area is now maintaining two birth control centers in the Trenton area, according to Mrs. Amos Eno, president.

The original center at 202 Academy Street has been refurbished through the generosity of Mrs. Roland Ely, Mrs. John Davis in charge of the unit located in the East Trenton Center, North Olden and North Clinton Avenues. Three clinic sessions are held weekly. Mrs. Morton Rosenthal, R. N., has been appointed to assist Mrs. Russell Fraser, executive nurse.

Planned Parenthood volunteers are staffing a booth from 10 a.m. until 10 p.m. at the New Jersey State Fair in Trenton this week.

"THIS IS LAWRENCE"

League Seeks Funds. The annual finance drive of the League of Women Voters, Lawrence Township, will start on Monday with a meeting at the home of Mrs. Philip Cheeseman and a talk by Mrs. George Derby, of the League's state finance board.

Money raised by the drive will be used for printing and mailing voter information sheets to all residents of Lawrence Township; publishing "This is Lawrence Township," a new booklet on the history, government and services of the community, and sponsoring "Candidates Night."

Canvassing will be carried on during the week of September 28-October 3.

COUNTRY FAIR PLANNED

By Lawrenceville PTA. The Lawrenceville Elementary Parent-Teachers Association will sponsor a Country Fair next Saturday, October 3, from 11 to 4 p.m.

Located on the school grounds on Craven Lane, the fair will retain all the games of chance of previous years and will add some new ones including Ring-the-Beatles. In addition to prizes, rides and food there will be an auction. At 3 p.m., a 1953 station wagon will be sold to the highest bidder.

Booth chairmen include Mrs. Thomas Megonigal, Mrs. George Trimble, Mrs. John Hart, Mrs. Kenneth Huber, Mrs. William Hunter, Mrs. Richard Horch, Mrs. E. J. Elhart, Mrs. W. P. Poinsett, Mrs. William H. McCarroll, Mrs. Peter Fosky, Mrs. Donald Hog, Samuel DeCoo, Frank Bussom, Miss Joyce Davis, Mrs. Howard Larason, Mrs. Byron Jones, Mrs. William Ellis, Mrs. Paul Harrisson, Mrs. C. Woerner Meyer, Mrs. Maitland Pearce, Mrs. Richard Aicher, Mrs. D. G. Field, Mrs. Thomas Boston, Mrs. C. Dickey Dyer, Mrs. Raymond Moore, Mrs. Zenon J. Piet, Mrs. Clarence Weisgerber and Mrs. C. P. Meserole.

SING FOR HADASSAH

Musical Planned. The story of Hadassah's various projects will be told in an original musical to be given on Wednesday, September 30, at 8:30 p.m. at the Princeton Jewish Center, with a cast of Princeton singers.

Mrs. Ernest Lynton will be pianist and director, and the singers will be Mesdames Samuel Cohen, Jerome Korshan, Martin Steele, Jonah Wittenberg and Sidney Rosen.

Hadassah, the women's Zionist organization of America, sponsors in Israel a program of teaching, medical research, vocational education, social welfare, child care and land reclamation.

Mrs. Seymour Adler, program vice-president, is in charge of the musical. Hostesses for the evening will be Mesdames Arthur Garman, Irving Roshwalb, Israel Heitzeil and Howard Rosenthal. Decorations chairmen are Mesdames Marvin Blumenthal and Herbert Gurk.

BUILD A SAILBOAT!
Just when we thought our favorite bookshop had built a collection on any subject, a group of young boys, anxious to build "some kind of a boat" sent us humbly searching for the right book. We'll find it!
But to think we could have helped them build a rocket, grind a telescope or cook a pheasant!
Mark Twain would understand.

25TH REUNION SET

By PHS Class of 1939. A dinner dance at the Nassau Inn on October 3 will mark the 25th reunion of the Princeton High School Class of 1939.

Class members who have not been contacted or who wish additional information are requested to get in touch with a member of the Reunion Committee.

Guy Bensinger, Mrs. Jack Honace Jr. (Ann Clayton), Vincent Gregg Jr., Robert Hoffman, Robert Mooney, Walter Sears, and Mrs. Starr Northrop (Margaret Wooden), all of Princeton.

Mrs. William S. Chambers (Gloria Fiedler), Princeton Junction, Mrs. G. H. Kuhn (Anastasia Murphy) and Mrs. H. L. McWhorter (Helen Smith), both of Monmouth Junction.

CLEAR THE ATTIC!

It's Rummage Time. Household items who have been squirreling away exhausted furniture, old record players and wooden storm-windows may get them out soon the Hospital Aid Committee rummage sale has been set for October 12, 13, 14 and 15.

The annual event will be held in the Harrison Street Parish House under the chairmanship of Mrs. Edward Leib. Marshall Rice committee consists of Mrs. William Boudinot, president of the Hospital Aid Association, and members of the Executive Board, Mesdames Irving Morrison, Milton Winters, Paul G. Herkart, Henry Broad, Marshall Stig, E. W. Beste, Julian Hebert, Robert N. Pease, D. O. North, Jon B. Nelson and Edward McCall.

Heavy furniture will be collected on Monday October 12. Arrangements should be made with Mrs. F. M. Bushnell, 466-2036 or Mrs. John Stover, 924-2485. All other donations may be taken to the firehouse between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. on Monday, October 12 or 9 a.m. and noon, Tuesday, October 13.

The first rummage sale was held in 1918 by a group of women who wanted to raise money for the small farmhouse hospital that used to be on the site of the present hospital. Today, the Committee has two rummage sales a year, operates the food and gift shop in the hospital and a gift cart at the hospital and at "Merwick."

Why I Plan to Vote

Republican

By Amy M. Rayner

I intend to vote for Senator Goldwater. No other political leader has so dramatically advanced American ideals since Sen. Robert Taft.

I had the privilege of talking with Senator Taft a good many years ago. His true conservatism and genuine concern for humanity left an indelible imprint on my political beliefs.

The Democratic candidate, who professes to "care" about the little man while building a multimillion dollar empire in his home state of Texas, under highly questionable circumstances, is in reality an insincere political opportonist.

With disregard for fact, Sen. Goldwater's opponents have chosen to attack him with the "catch-phrase" and fear technique. The low level of the assault should offend any reasonable preson.

A large segment of the population looks to Senator Goldwater as a man of peace, but some members of the press have attached the label "trigger happy" to him. His televised speech on September 18th clarified his views. An interested voter should listen to the candidate rather than accept someone else's interpretation — especially in this campaign.

As a mother of four children, I am deeply concerned with peace in the present and future. I believe that a man as devoted to his own family as Senator Goldwater would be extremely cautious where the safety of the population is concerned.

Lyndon Johnson's theme of "the great society" should be studied carefully. It is based on the premise that the Federal Government can better manage our lives than we as individuals.

We should all have grave misgivings at the prospect of our society in the control of a power hungry man of "evil moral ethic" as the President has recently been described.

In summary, I plan to vote for Senator Goldwater, a man I believe represents a true concern for all members of society, the best opportunity for peaceful existence and a strong concern for honesty and ethics in his dealings with others.

Democratic

By John R. Yost, Jr.

When you feel very strongly about something, emotions and memory can combine to produce a less than rational result. As I pondered the results of the political conventions this summer from a perspective gained by being on another continent, it happened to me.

The more I thought about it and the more puzzled Europeans asked me questions, the less sense I could make of Mr. Goldwater's nomination. Based on my recollections and intuitive feelings, the result seemed first lamentable, then shocking, finally tragic.

The return to Princeton and its academic, logical atmosphere provided an opportunity to replace fiction with fact, emotion with reason. A recent "Congressional Quarterly" summarized in great detail the public statements and, more important, the voting records of the candidates.

The review refreshed my outlook. In areas of particular interest to me, it looks like this.

Human Dignity and Rights

1954 Goldwater voted against McCarthy censure.

1960 Goldwater voted for Civil Rights bill but also for 2/3 of Southern crippling amendments.

1963 He voted not to withhold school aid because of segregation policies and against empowering Attorney General to seek injunctions to protect rights.

1964 Voted against cloture and against Civil Rights bill.

Domestic Aid

1956 Goldwater voted against adding disability payments to Social Security.

1958 He voted against boosting Social Security benefits 10%.

1960 Voted against aid to depressed areas and medical care for the aged under Social Security.

1961 Voted against area redevelopment and training unemployed workers.

1962 Voted against medical care for aged under Social Security.

1963 Voted against mass transit aid, against National Service Corps, and against area redevelopment.

1964 Voted against anti-poverty bill and against medical care for the aged under Social Security.

Education

1953 Goldwater voted against using revenue from U.S. leasing of outer continental shelf for education.

1958 He voted against National Defense Education Act.

1959 He voted against Youth Conservation Corps to combat delinquency, against providing educational loans to veterans.

1960 Voted against $1 billion for school construction.

1961 Voted against funds for educational TV and school construction.

1962 Voted against $2.7 billion five year aid program for higher education.

1963 Voted against grants for medical schools, vocational aid, aid to colleges, and aid to libraries.

Foreign Affairs

1953 Voted against confirmation of Bohlen as ambassador to Russia.

1958 Goldwater voted against U.S. aid to India.

1960 Voted for cuts in Mutual Security Fund.

1961 Voted to reduce Peace Corps budget and against foreign aid bill.

1962 Voted against economic aid bill and against $100 million loan to United Nations.

1963 Voted against limited nuclear test ban and foreign assistance program.

So there it is. It is not hearsay or misinterpretation. It is a consistent public record. In almost every case Mr. Goldwater's vote was cast against the Senate majority and frequently against the majority of his own party. I must ask myself, devoid of passion, whether this is the man to lead the free world or the man to lead his own country in accomplishment, dignity, and freedom.

But what of Mr. Johnson. Can his record stand the same scrutiny? One cannot say he is as consistent. In civil rights, for instance, he vote with the South for many years until about 1957 when, as a responsible public official, he reexamined his thinking. On each of the particular Senate votes listed above, before 1960 when he became Vice-President, Mr Johnson voted exactly the other way to the vote cast by Mr Goldwater.

This need not be a campaign of emotion. The facts are available to the American public. Examine them and take your choice. I have, and I choose President Johnson.

Sorry, Senator Goldwater.....

This is where a lot of us Republicans part company .....

We, the undersigned, are a group of registered Republicans who intend to support our party candidates at the local, state and congressional level, but who cannot, in all conscience, cast our votes for Goldwater and Miller. We believe that there are large numbers of Republicans in this community who feel as we do. We also believe that the only way in which to protest effectively against the choice of the Republican National Convention is to vote for Johnson and Humphrey. Moreover, we are establishing a rallying point for those Republicans who agree with us that the election of Goldwater and Miller would be inimical to the best interests of the party, the country and the whole free world.

We earnestly solicit your support for the activities of this committee.

ART In Princeton

NEW SEASON BEGINS

At Gallery 100. Many of us who search for Art in Princeton look to Gallery 100 as a place where we can see exhibitions chosen with care and a real feeling of responsibility to the various interests of the community. Starting off its active season, the Gallery now presents prints and paintings by Richard Florsheim, through October 11.

Because of the artist's heavy schedule of one-man shows all over the U.S. and Europe, Gallery 100 has waited its turn for a year. Well worth waiting for, we think, because to see the Florsheim paintings as well as the more familiar prints, describes this artist more roundly. Whereas his style is not unusual in our time, his conviction and ability to communicate are exceptional.

The City. In all its moods, the city is his subject. Born in Chicago and trained in electronics as well as art, he understands what makes the great cities of our country violent, noble and subtle.

He sees that behind the drama of industrial life there is always nature's own drama and he combines the two concepts in conscious composition, often and most effectively, with color. With a hot red sky behind still darkened roof-tops, his lithograph "City Morning" becomes a fearful forecast of a relentless "dog-day."

In contrast is his refreshing painting of the city at night. Flat and quiet in mood and technique, the deep colors of "Night Harbor" are as restful as a cooling summer evening.

Once the eye becomes accustomed to the depths behind the occasional lights, big buildings drift into focus and their reflections move gently on the water. A picture to read into.

Florsheim can conjure up those same fascinating contrasts of day and night we notice, for instance, in industrial Newark where, assailed by its ugly strength and smells by day, we are enchanted by its fragile network of lights and gas jets by night. "Steel Mills" and "Chemical Towers," "Sunset Bridge" are some of his contrasts and we rather hope that he will tackle the World's Fair next.

Concerned as he is with "Big Town," his delight lies also in the peaceful aspects of country and shore. Provincetown, with its boats and weirs, the strange fishing nets, has been a favorite source for paintings and lithographs which have lovely atmosphere. Wherever his work stands between realism and abstraction, it is work which one can grasp in meaning and it's always good to know you've gotten the message.

Fringe Benefits. Left over from the summer sculpture exhibit is a delightful new piece by George Papashvily called "Eucalyptus leaves with loquat leaves on the reverse." Carved into a very beautiful pale green stone, the leaves emerge in character, smooth and graceful. Unexpectedly from beneath the eucalyptus peers an inquisitive little creature with a wet nose and beady eyes.

Another dividend is a group of prints by the Argentine artist, Antonio Berni who won 1st Prize at the Biennale of 1962. His subject, "The Life and Friends of Romana Monteil, Girl of Paris," was "inspired by the accessories of Parisian ladies of the Belle Epoque." Many of these same accessories have found their way into the very fabric of Berni's prints, and you can amuse yourself sorting out of the collage tassels and buttons, a piece of passementerie or a scrap of French Val.

ART ASSOCIATION READY for First Season. The Princeton Art Association is starting its very first season by offering a fall program of three art courses, two sketch classes and a series of exhibitions. Until the Association procures its own headquarters, the classes will meet at the Studio-on-the Canal which has generously agreed to rent studio space. The instructors including Peter Cook, portrait painter; H Kempton Hastings, sculptor, and Mrs. Dagmar Tribble, watercolorists, are donating their time to the cause.

Commencing this week and open to members and non-members is Mr. Hasting's sculpture course with ten sessions. The class is limited to eight students and meets Mondays from 8 to 10 p.m.

Mrs. Tribble will hold classes in watercolor for 12 students, members and non-members. Beginning November 4. Peter Cook will conduct a portrait seminar with demonstrations and discussions of various techniques. This will be given for the membership only.

Thursday morning sketch classes begin this Thursday, 9.30 to 11.30 a.m., and evening sketch classes from 8 to 10 p.m. start this Wednesday. Both are limited to 14 participants. For further information and enrollment, one may write or phone Mrs. Peter Loret, 96 Dempsey Avenue, 924-5640.

On September 15, an exhibition of work by Cintra Huber opened a series of one man shows to be sponsored this year by the Association at the Neuro-Psychiatric Institute.

The Art Association expects a fruitful year and hopes for the support of the community — support, not just monetary but constructive in ideas and criticism for its enterprise. Anyone interested in joining the membership is invited to attend the fall meeting on Sunday, October 4, at 3 in the Unitarian Church, Cherry Valley Road. At this time each artist member will bring a piece of his own work for an informal showing and exchange of ideas.

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs

Rugs are usually named after the town or village in which they are woven. Each town or village has a certain characteristic of weave, design and color which makes the rug easily identifiable. We will attempt to name a few of the more abundant types with some of their characteristics. The name however does not denote a specific quality — there are three or four qualities to a name. We will begin next week with the Kerman carpets of Southern Persia.

How Much of a Switch?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In a recent article about the "Independent Voters for Johnson", you stated that the organization lists among its trustees and members. "Independents, voters who put principle above party, Republicans . . . and Democrats . . ." Also listed were officers and trustees of the organization from the Princeton area.

It would be interesting to know how many "Independents" and Republicans are included in the original offficers and trustees of the organization, and how frequently these people have supported other than Democratic or Liberal Party candidates in recent elections. Do the "Independent Voters for Johnson" make this information available?

Disagrees with Democrats

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The Democrat candidates for borough council, in the September 17 Town Topics Mailbox, seek to introduce an alien philosophy into Princeton's local politics. Local government and local office holders, say these Democrats, must publicly swear fealty — absolute — and thereafter follow slavishly the national program, policies and office holders . . .

Advocating the corrupting practice of blind and complete compliance with an out-of-town, out-of-state, enormous federal party platform, practices and officials is such astounding naivete as to constitute self-disbarment from local office — in Princeton . . .

Although I, too, would be happy to have local candidates support national party and candidates, I would miss the fundamental of democratic government in the whole Anglo-Saxon tradition, the New England town meeting and the evolution of our own Princeton community if I sought candidates first as national party members rather than as competent local citizens . . . It is piously to be hoped that in Princeton our own good community will continue its own practice of local men elected on local issues for local government.

Swimming for Everyone?

To the Editor of Town Topics:

On a steaming summer day it is difficult to find a Princetonian who does not agree that an opportunity to swim for everyone is more than a luxury. Certainly all children, for safety's sake, must have a chance to learn to swim. What has our community done to fill this need?

PAHR members this summer tried to solve the swimming problem in two ways. Despite the success of these two programs, neither fills the essential need in Princeton for a community pool. PAHR believes such a pool is of prime importance to answer Princeton's recreation needs.

Members of PAHR's Social Action Committee, under the direction of Thomas F. Caldwell, investigated the admission policies of five commercial pools. In some cases many contacts had to be made to elicit any response at all, but eventually all pools gave, with varying degrees of enthusiasm, assurance of admission without regard to race. (Two pools that had been closed to Negroes agreed to change their policy.)

The committee members tested out these assurances. One swimming club had filled its membership quota.

Social Action Committee believes its efforts have produced a measure of success in this field. However, in view of the problems of transportation and their cost of admission, commercial pools cannot fill the needs of underprivileged families, no matter what their race may be.

Second, the Recreation Committee of PAHR, with Robert W. Sinkler as chairman and Lloyd Axworthy as program director, organized a swimming program for children in privately-owned pools. Fifteen owners volunteered the use of their pools. Mrs. Floyd Campbell supervised a network of car pools. Volunteers acted as drivers, lifeguards or instructors.

In the course of the summer, 150 children were given an opportunity to swim through the Recreation Committee's program. One cannot but be impressed with the generosity and effectiveness of those who made it possible.

Again, Princeton has done well, but not well enough. Because of the limitations intrinsic in the use of scattered small pools, of private transportation, of the time of volunteers however generously given, many children had to be disappointed. Moreover, it is unfair and undesirable for young swimmers to have to depend indefinitely on what is, essentially, charity.

What then? PAHR workers have unearthed much good will and fairly general greement on the nature of the need. The creation of a community pool is the almost embarrassingly obvious answer.

More than a year ago, according to John R. Yost, Jr., the Township Recreation Committee made public its study on the feasibility of providing Princeton with a community pool. Clarke and Rapuano, a New York firm of landscape architects, submitted a cost estimate.

The cost of grading and draining an appropriate portion of Community Park land, of constructing a swimming pool, a wading pool, and necessary buildings, was then thought to be $339,000. A fifteen year bond at three and a half per cent would bring the tax cost to four dollars a year for a family owning a $25,000 house, assuming that the two Princeton communities were to share equally in the cost. Operating costs would hardly be beyond the resources of Princeton.

Work on other recreational facilities at Community Park is now in progress. Yet the Borough and Township governing bodies have not produced a plan for a community pool and a time-table for its construction.

The members of PAHR strongly believe there is no reason for further delay on the Community Park pool.

Optical Illusion Explained.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

May I add an amusing footnote to your delightful story (Sept. 3) about Greensboro, Vt.

Approximately four years ago, the Atlantic Monthly published an article about the North Country and included a description of the boarding house now called Lakeview Inn. We decided after saving the clipping for four years to go up this summer for a week. I needed the rest as I teach in New York City at Pace College and commute.

The Inn and the place is everything we had hoped but the second night at the Inn, as I glanced around me at meal time, I told my wife that I really must have needed that vacation. She asked why and I said that in that dining room almost everyone looked familiar and that I decided was impossible 600 miles from Princeton.

There was a man there who looked like Dean Eisenhart, there was another gentleman who resembled a professor I had during my graduate days. I decided I would take a long walk after dinner and I'd feel better. On the walk things got worse. We passed more almost familiar faces—was it on Nassau Street, or in class, or . . .

The next day at breakfast the owner of the Inn, a Mr. Anderson, came over to our table and said, "I see that you are from Princeton, N. J.; we have a lot of Princeton people here, you know."

I felt better.

TO HONOR SCHOLARS

At Wyman House Tea Scholars from the British Commonwealth will be feted by the Princeton branch of the English-Speaking Union at a tea on Sunday, October 11.

The affair will be held at Wyman House, home of Dean and Mrs. Donald R. Hamilton. Among the scholars will be this year's Sir John Dill Fellow, Gavin G. Lewis.

POLIO VACCINE OFFERED

This Thursday, infants and pre-school children living in Princeton Borough and West Windsor are offered free Sabin Polio Vaccine (Type I) this Thursday.

Sponsored by the boards of health of the two municipalities, the vaccine is available from 1 to 2 p.m. at the Baby Keep Well Station of the Princeton Visiting Nurse Association, 253 Witherspoon Street, Suite U. Types II and III will be offered at later dates.

"BOUTIQUE" PLANNED

For Hospital Funds. A Christmas Boutique, to be housed in the Princeton landmark known as "Guernsey Hall," on Lovers Lane, will be held in early November by the Women's Association of Princeton Hospital.

The association pledged to the hospital $50,000 to be paid over a five-year period, and the Boutique has been planned to help in the raising of that sum. Boutique "shops" will offer gifts from specialty stores in Florida and eastern summer resorts.

Mrs. Roland T. Ely and Mrs. Hibben Zeising will be co-chairmen of the Boutique, assisted by Mesdames Roger B. Kirkpatrick, A.S. Blodget, Carl D. Reimers, Wendell Davis, Malcolm Muir Jr., William M. Webster Jr. and Henry Halpern.

THEY'RE LOOOKING FOR SPECIAL GIFTS: Division Chairmen and Captains of the United Fund-Red Cross Special Gifts Division have launched their campaign for $120,000—10% more than F.Y. year—toward this year's United Fund-Red Cross goal of $385,265. More than 170 volunteers serve in this division. (left to right, seated) Mrs. Arthur P. Morgan, Mrs. John T. McLaughlin and Mrs. Paul R. Benson. (Left to right, standing) Robert J. Ballet Society Elucidates.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

We are most grateful to TOWN TOPICS for its announcement of the Princeton Ballet Society's acquisition of the Rosedale Lockers to permit expansion of its facilities. In discussing the expansion with one of your editors, I used an editorial "we" referring to the many dedicated people who sponsor the work of the Society and to myself, the Director, your editor, misinterpreting the "we", reported that Mr. Estey and I had leased the additional space.

May I correct the error? Although Mr. Estey is actively interested in the work of the Society he protests that he has no official capacity in the organization.

May I at this time clarify the nature of the Ballet Society? It is incorporated as a non-profit organization dedicated to the promotion of education in dance as an art.

Its two chief functions are the operation of a school of ballet and the operation of the Princeton Regional Ballet, a non-professional company that gives performing opportunities to the best dancers in the Central New Jersey area. The wonderful growth and expansion over the past ten years are due to the tireless and unselfish efforts of its Board of Trustees and of countless others devoted to the dance.

SPORTS In Princeton

NEW SEASON AT HAND And Tigers Are Hopeful. On an occasion marked by two noteworthy anniversaries, Princeton and Rutgers will open the 1964 football season Saturday at 2 in Palmer Stadium. The game will mark the 95th year since these two universities launched the sport in 1869, while it is exactly half a century since the Stadium was completed.

The game takes shape as likely to be more rewarding for the Tigers than for their traditional opponents from the banks of the Raritan. Expectations are that Princeton will again have a team strong enough to make a run for the Ivy League title — which it shared last year with Dartmouth. Rutgers, on the other hand, anticipates improvement over its 3-6 record of last season but will create something of a surprise if it holds the Tigers' victory margin as low as one touchdown.

QUICK LOOK AT RUTGERS

OFFENSE: Probably improved over last year. Senior Sam Modir directs attack, passes well. Fullback Bob Brendel, 210, halfback Chet Ward best ball carriers

DEFENSE: Some inexperience like by Tigers' single wing will cost pound problems

CHIEF ASSET: Good all-around potential, hoping to catch fire early

CHIEF PROBLEM: Lack of depth, complicated by too many sophomores

TYPE OF ATTACK Winged T

There is reason to believe that Dick Colman and his assistants have made solid progress in welcoming back an old friend — two-platoon football. Like virtually all of their other 1964 opponents, the Orange and Black may not have quite the depth to keep from using some players both ways, but essentially they will field one team when they have the ball and another when they are on defense. As the unlimited substitution rule did in the early '50s, it will make for a better brand of college football.

Practice sessions, capped by the closed scrimmage with Lehigh last weekend, have shown that Princeton is up to its old tricks in masterful exhibition of the single wing. Captain Cosmo Iacavazzi's tremendous ability at fullback and tailback Don McKay's slashing speed off tackle and around end provide a one-two punch that should be the equal of last year's fine ground game. In 1963, the Tigers were second in the nation in yards gained rushing as they compiled a fine 250-yard game average.

Good weather is expected to produce a good crowd — upwards of 35,000. The game is the big one on the Rutgers schedule, and although the Scarlet has been beaten here the last two seasons, memories in New Brunswick are still filled with the four straight years (1958-61) when Princeton was upended by the Raritan eleven.

Having been blanked here in 1963 by 24-0, a whitewash that was followed by another at the hands of Harvard the following week, Rutgers has been concentrating on developing an offense more rapidly this fall. Belief is that the Scarlet's senior quarterback, Dave Stout, can make the winged T move, what success he will have against a Princeton defense that appears to be better than average will be revealed Saturday afternoon.

Can Tigers Pass? While early estimates of Princeton's power on the ground should be readily substantiated in rather satisfactory fashion, the big question — again — is centered on the Tigers' aerial ability. Two years ago, they were seventh in the Ivy League in

IVY TITLE EYED: Captain Cosmo Iacavazzi, one of four Princeton football players in the modern era to earn All-American rating as a junior, and Coach Dick Colman have hopes Tigers may again finish first in the Ivy League. Princeton's 95th football season opens Saturday.

A COUPLE OF JOE'S PICK PRINCETON: Joe Klimek (left) and Joe Battista both name the Princeton Tigers to win the Ivy League football championship. Saying he is naturally prejudiced, Klimek, a University freshman, picks Princeton to win eight of nine this fall; Battista, who looks as if he would be just as much at home in the Princeton line as in the barber shop, gives Princeton the nod in seven contests. (Staff Photo)

Question of the Week

Question: How many games do you think the Princeton University football team will win this year and who do you think will win the Ivy League championship?

Where asked: Around town.

Joseph Klimek, Pyne Hall, University freshman: I think maybe eight. I've been talking to some of the players and they seem to feel they have a good chance for the championship this year. That seems to be the general feeling all over campus and I feel the same way.

Joseph Battista, Trenton, barber for Frank's, 39 Witherspoon Street. I think Princeton will probably win the championship. They have a good team back, a lot of spirit and they have a strong line on offense and defense. I'd say they should win seven of nine.

Harry Alonso, 272 State Road, sophomore, University of Pennsylvania: I think Princeton will win every game with the exception of Yale. Yale has a superior line and I think the advantage of a home town field will make a difference. I still feel Princeton will win the Ivy championship with their six games. I don't think they'll have trouble with anybody else, with the possible exception of Brown. I think Princeton is in a class by itself. It has a strong backfield and in Iacavazzi, one of the most powerful backs in all the country.

Dick Fowler, Hopewell, glazier for Nelson Glass Company: I'd say seven out of nine. I think Dartmouth and Yale will beat them but I think Princeton will take the championship. I figure there is going to be a number of upsets involving Yale and Dartmouth, too. Iacavazzi should give Princeton a real good boost.

George Johnson, 35 Park Place, employee of R. F. Johnson, electrical contractor: Princeton is going to win the championship. I believe it will go undefeated this season if the sophomores come through like they're supposed to. From what I've read and what I saw last year, I think Princeton is going to do all right.

Tom Harvey, Joline Hall, University sopohomore, one of ten managers of the football team. I think they'll win eight. I think they'll lose to Brown, if anybody. It will be close, either way. This year, Princeton is going to have a helluva front line . . .they have some real beef. Princeton will take the title because I thing Yale will clutch up. Princeton hasn't had this much beef in a long time, they're going to be real good.

Robert Williams, Trenton, houseman for Cap and Gown Club, Prospect Avenue: To tell the truth, I think Princeton is going to win them all and the championship. They had a good team last year and a lot of last year's squad is back. I figure since last year's players were so good, they'll be even better this year.

Phil Bradley, Brown Hall, University freshman: I think Princeton will lose one game but don't ask me to whom. No team — very few anyway — can go undeated. It's tough to win them all, even though you are better than your opponents. I think Princeton will win the championship. Princeton didn't lose too many but they lost quality. They don't have much depth and this new substitution rule will hurt them. They don't have the material to field three teams. But I still think they'll win it.

James Bloar, Hamilton Township, Borough patrolman: Princeton, I think they'll win every game and go undefeated, to be honest with you. They have a lot of good players coming back. I think they're going to be the team to beat.

Edwin Christiansen, 20 Erdman Avenue, powerhouse employee, Princeton University: That's easy. Princeton will win it. They're going to win all nine. I'm optimistic for the simple reason I like the Princeton team. I've stayed with them for 30 years and I've seen good and bad games in those years, but this year they're going to take them all.

Nicholas Cevera, 69 Levitt Lane, driver: They're going to lose to Harvard, maybe Dartmouth, too. As far as the Ivy League championship goes, I think either Princeton or Harvard, will take it. I hope Princeton goes all the way. I'd like to see a bonfire; I haven't seen one of those for five or six years.

Bruce Ehart, 60 Murray Place, auto mechanic: I think Harvard may beat Princeton again this year and possibly Dartmouth. Dartmouth's not as strong as Harvard but Princeton will still have to look out for them. I couldn't say who is going to win the Ivy race. It will probably be close between Harvard and Dartmouth.

John Springer, Tenacre, athletic director, Princeton YWCA: If I had to go out on a limb right now, I'd pick Dartmouth to win the championship. I don't know too much about Harvard or Yale so I don't know what will happen there. I think Princeton should win at least six games. Colman says they have a couple of weak spots that seem to be filling up but until they're tested, who knows?

Don Lovering, Blawenburg Road, employee for Cooper and Schafer: I think they will lose to Dartmouth again — they're always good — and I suppose Dartmouth will win the championship, too. I think Princeton should take seven out of nine. They might lose to Yale. Princeton has a sophomore lineman coming up — Kozumbo — who is supposed to be good and as long as they've got Iacavazzi they've got something.

Ken Turner, 224 John Street, Princeton High School junior: I think they'll win at least five this year, but I hope they do better than that. Of course I would like to see Princeton win it but I think Dartmouth will take the championship.

THINK ABOUT SAFETY AND YOU'RE THINKING OF SAFE OIL HEAT

The homeowner must give considerable thought to the heating fuel used in his home... is it economical... is it efficient ... is it clean... IS IT SAFE? Choose OIL HEAT, and the answer to all these questions is "YES"! OIL HEAT is economical, efficient and clean; and most important ...IT IS SAFE. Oil burns completely in its own sealed combustion chamber... it is a clear, odorless liquid that can easily be seen...a liquid that will extinguish a flame plunged into it. With SAFE OIL HEAT, homeowners can rest assured.

Think about safety when you select a heating fuel and you're thinking about SAFE OIL HEAT.

Ivy League Forecast

Princeton over Rutgers. Tigers ready. Scarlet's not.

Yale over Connecticut. Easy for the Elis.

Dartmouth over New Hampshire. Indians too numerous.

Colombia over Colgate. Lions have better balance.

Harvard over Massachusetts. But could be close.

Penn over Lehigh. One Quakers should win.

Buffalo over Cornell. Not much at Ithaca.

Brown over Lafayette. Bruins to roll it up.

yards gained passing, last season, they were dead last — and when they could not complete a single toss for a single yard against Dartmouth, it was a major factor in their inability to win the Ivy title outright.

Accordingly, McKay's passing from the tailback slot will be watched with great interest. There is hope, too, that junior Ron Landeck and sophomore Dave Martin will make Princeton considerably more of an aerial threat than it has been in the last two or three years. Martin, in particular, has looked well in pre - season action and should prove to be a major asset.

Princeton will work toward complete use of platoons this season, but the coaching staff anticipates the probability that some players may be used two ways, particularly if the score remains close. Ideally, Jacavazzi can best serve the team if he is rested when the Tigers do not have the ball, but for practical purposes, he may be needed from time to time as a linebacker.

There is no doubt, however, that the return to virtually unlimited substitutions will not only mean a better brand of football but will provide action for far more players. For example, an even dozen sophomores are scheduled to see action Saturday the moment Princeton puts its reserve offensive and defensive on the field.

One of them tackle Blair Lee Jr. will start on offense, two others (end Walt Kozumbo, halfback Doug James) will start on defense. In other years, unless the game was broken open in the closing minutes, sophomores largely rode the bench.

Experience on Defense. In dividing the squad into platoons, the coaching staff has put most of the experienced linemen on defense and the backs who saw most action last year on offense. For example, the offensive line consists of three lettermen, three varsity holdovers and a sophomore working in front of four backs all of whom are senior lettermen.

In contrast, the defensive platoon will start eight lettermen and three top sophomores. Veteran guards Stas Maliszewski and Paul Savidge, both rugged 215-pounders, will make this unit tough going for opposing ball carriers.

In addition to Princeton's passing game, the wingback position will be watched with considerable interest. It has been listed by the coaching staff as one of the pre-season problems, largely because none of the numerous players tried there to date has shown solid blocking ability.

If senior John O'Brien, largely slowed by injuries during the past two seasons, remains available for full duty, he will strengthen the offense measurably and free Lynn Sutcliffe for duty solely as a linebacker. O'Brien's left-handed passing will also lend variety to the attack.

Princeton's early degree of polish and superior depth are expected to make the difference in Saturday's game. The contest with Rutgers is almost invariably a good measuring stick if the Tigers can't win this one, they rarely go anywhere in the Ivy League.

Running power that is probably better than any of Princeton's nine opponents can muster will be on view in

TWO-YEAR LETTERMAN: Senior Don McKay is Princeton's starting tailback this season.

Unlimited Substitutions Welcomed Back

For the first time in 12 years, college football will be played this season on a platoon basis, with coaches taking advantage of a liberalized rules change which permits virtually unlimited substitutions. Since this policy was suddenly abandoned at the end of the 1952 season, the rule on substitutions has been altered so frequently that the procedure in sending in one or more players varied greatly from one year to another and often confused coaches and officials themselves.

Under the 1964 rules, a team may send in as many as 11 players on any down—provided the clock is stopped. Inasmuch as this occurs for such routine reasons as an out of bounds play, an incomplete pass, a penalty, a score, measurement for a first down, etc., most colleges are expected to revert to the popular procedure of using 11-man specialist platoons on offense and defense.

When the clock is running, two players may be substituted without penalty. To what extent teams will stop the clock intentionally (by passing out of bounds or accepting a five-yard penalty for delay of the game) in order to make sure of ability to switch platoons remains to be seen.

Other 1964 rules changes are minor. Among them are regulations preventing either team from advancing the ball when a fair catch is called, banning deliberate butting of an opponent's head, neck or face, and others governing minor equipment changes.

Person To Person

Cory S. Kammler

Our attention was called to the dictionary's definition of an accident, which reads: "An event that takes place without one's foresight or expectation. . . ." The point is that one must have foresight and expectation to avoid accidents. The fellow who expects he may have an accident is the one who will be alert against one. For example, in a recent year, cars that did not have the right of way injured 608,400 and killed 3,890 people on U.S. highways. Obviously, foresight, or expectation than an accident might happen would have caused the offender to yield to the car that had the right of way, or would have made him more conscious of all the traffic signs and signals. Perhaps we need more attention-getting signs. The Dow Chemical Company we hear have four "Imps" signs which highlight reasons for accidents. They are: IMPatience, IMPulsiveness, IMProvising and IMPunity. For drivers we would add IMPoliteness, for lack of courtesy on the road is high on the list of accidents causes. Hope you won't mind if we throw in at this point the fact that when you do business with us the resulting satisfaction and savings will be no accident! Palmer Stadium. If the defense measure up to expectations, and if the passing game develops a degree of authority that has been almost totally lacking in the last couple of years, Princeton will again make a strong bid for the Ivy title

"GOOD CHANCE" SEEN For PHS in Opener. "I feel this is the first time we have a good chance of winning our first game." So says Princeton's High Dick Wood, discussing his team's chances in Saturday's opener at Hamilton

"I have to say more in the beginning," continued Wood, who is starting his third year as head coach, "because it is hard to tell how we will react under real fire. Playing North Plainfield as we did in our opener for the past two years, it was hard for me to say I thought we had a good chance of winning and mean it." (Always tough, North Plainfield spoiled the Little Tigers' openers in 1962 and '63.)

For the 2 p.m. inaugural with Hamilton, Wood reported that he will start the following team: Vince Boccanfuso, left end, Bob White, left guard; Jim Floyd, center; Peter Briggs, right guard; Tony Arcaro, inside tackle; Andy Kulley, outside tackle and Harvey Hammond, right end. In the backfield, Bill Bartolino, wingback; Lofton Henderson, quarterback, Bill Aiken, fullback and Paul Walstad, tailback.

The spirit of the team is high, Wood reported. Mirroring this is the large number of boys out for the sport. "I never thought we would have this many out," said Wood.

160 Report. "I used to think if we ever got 150 boys out that would be something But we've got 160 out now. We're down to our last piece of equipment and the last bit of space in our locker room." Awash in this sea of personnel, Wood has had little trouble suiting up four full varsity teams and three junior varsity squads.

A number of pre-season scrimmages, the most recent held Saturday with Franklin Township, have helped Wood separate the wheat from the chaff. Commenting on the Franklin scrimmage, Wood said, "We learned a few things. As a result, we're more set on our personnel."

One of the acknowledged weak spots at the start of the season, the strong side end position, has firmed up with the unexpected rapid development of Harvey Hammond. "Hammond has come along better and faster than we expected," said Wood. Thus the development of Hammond will free back, Pete Heiberger, a pre-season candidate for the position, for a spot on the defensive unit where he excels.

PHS STARTING BACKFIELD: Backfield starters for Princeton High's opener Saturday at Hamilton are, from left: Bill Aiken, fullback; Paul Walstad, tailback; Lofton Henderson, quarterback; and Bill Bartolino, wingback. All are seniors and all are returning lettermen with the exception of Henderson. Of 15 touchdowns scored by PHS in 1963, Aiken and Walstad accounted for 12. (Staff Photo)

Moves Ball Well. Wood also reported that he was pleased at the way PHS was able to move the ball against Franklin. "Walstad and Adams ran well from tailback and Bartolino did well coming around from wingback position," Wood said. "We moved the ball more consistently than they, but they got away on more scoring runs. This was more the result of a lack of experience than a lack of ability on our part," Wood added.

Another early question mark —passing—is not completely solved but Wood reported that Bill Cirullo, whom he is counting on to throw the long pass, "looked good" against Franklin. Moreover, Cirullo is developing into quite a runner which will make him all the more effective.

The team's number one full-back, Bill Aiken, did not play because of a broken nose. (He'll be able to play in the opener.) This was offset by the fine running of Bob Mooney and Lou Balestrieri in the position Balestrieri, in particular, looked "very good," Wood said.

Satisfied as he was with the progress of the team, Wood reported that there were still some bad spots that needed ironing out. One, not unexpectedly, was timing. Another was the defensive play.

"We contained them very well," said Wood speaking of Franklin, "but they got off a few big plays." Wood went on to say that the defense had trouble against the pitch out and the slant pass. "We're still uncertain who will be our three deep safetymen They had a tendency to come up too fast against Franklin," Wood said, "but these are mainly mistakes of inexperience and can be corrected."

One week before the start of the season Wood concluded that he was satisfied with the development of the team. "We are where I thought we would be at this time," he said.

The Little Tigers are ready.

The starting team that he has picked works well as a unit. Wood said. Aside from Aiken's broken nose and an injured ankle to Rich Stewart, defensive standout, the team is in good physical shape. Now all that remains, as Wood put it, is that first test under fire.

GOLFERS ADVANCE

In Springdale Championship. Three competitors in the top flight have advanced to the top flight have advanced to the semi-final round in the annual men's championship at Springdale Golf Club. Most of the matches in the other flights have also reached the semi-finals.

In the championship flight, the three semi-finalists are Gerry Lauck, who beat Eddie Donovan 1 up; Harry Hall, who beat Maury Mather, 5 and 4, and Brud Cook, winner over Moore Gates Jr by 4 and 3. The remaining quarter-final match will be between Bob Shaw and Dick Morgan.

In the second flight, Jack Sweeney is one of the finalists after a 1-up win over Tom Brophy. John Grover and Bill Paine are the other semi-finalists. Jack Houghton is in the finals of the third flight, having beaten Ed Conlin, 4 and 3, and John Becker is in the semi-finals after a 2 and 1 victory over Buck Holder.

The semi-finalist pairings in the fourth flight are Olie Houghton and Tom Dignan, and Fred Blaicher and Jack Gulick. In the fifth flight semi-finals, De Witt Boice will play Les Hannah, and Harry Volweider will play the winner of the match between Dan Dickey and Reed Stuart.

Sixth flight semi-finalists are Ross Shrader, who beat Bill Wilson, 2 up; Dick Lechler, winner over Pete Marzoni by 3 and 2, and Otto Nelson, who defeated Jim Daly, 2 and 1. Winner of the match between Norm Woodworth and Mickey Shannon will be the fourth semi-finalist.

To reach the semi-finals in the seventh flight, Bob McCarthy beat Reggie Bergesen, 3 and 1; Bill Wallace beat Fred King, 1 up in 19 holes, and Harold Houghton beat Asa Farr, 3 and 2. The match between Dean Mathey and Bill Sayen III has not yet been played.

In the eighth flight, Jack Cullen beat Ralph Mather, 4 and 2, Don Leigh beat Jack Kauffman, 4 and 2, Glen Miller beat John Miller, 2 and 1, and Roland Smith beat Gene York, 2 and 1. And, in the ninth flight, Jim Love beat Ray Rogers, 2 up; Charlie Foster beat Bob Heiserman, 7 and 6, Bill Bonthron beat Alan Poole, 1 up, and Ted Tama beat Phil Shaya, 1 up. The first flight is played at scratch, all others at full handicap.

BOWLING NOTES

Grover Tops Nassau League. Grover Lumber, with 12 wins, is in first place in the Nassau League bowling standings. Tied for second, with eight wins each, are Tiger Garage, Thorne Pharmacy and Nassau Liquor.

Others in the Nassau League: Reformers, Deckers Dairy and Bear Brook, 6 win each; Nassau Del, First Aid, Crescents, and Cooper & Schafer, 4 wins apiece, Princeton Elks, 2 wins.

High single game bowler in the Nassau League during last week's competition was Bill Whatley, 230. Other high one-game scorers were Jerry Perpetua, 215; George Kirby, 214, Gib Ireland and Pros Aschenbacher, both 203, and Ed Hughes, 200.

Maul Electric leads the "B" League with nine wins. Other teams: Kase Kleaners, Renwick's, Ivy Inn, Jugtown Del, 8 wins each; Balesirieri and Smith Bunding, 8 wins; The Key Shop and the Sportsmen, 4 wins, and Nassau Oil and Nini Plumbing, no wins.

A tie for first in the Tri-County Firemen's League has Mercer Engine Co. 3 and K.F.D. at 10 wins each. Other teams and their standings are: Kingston, Lawrenceville and Dutch Neck, 8 wins; Hook & Ladder "L" and Princeton No. 1, 6 wins; Princeton Junction, Plainsboro, Belle Mead and Hook & Ladder "H," 4 wins, and Rocky Hill, no wins.

MILLER WINS AGAIN

In Carnegie Sailing. Dexter Miller's 45.5 points Sunday won the Penguin class races staged by the Carnegie Sailing Club for the second week in a row. He and his crew, daughter Hope, won one of the five events.

Phil Holt, victor in two of the other races, was the runner-up with 41.3. Other totals: Harry Cooke (one first), 34.8; John Reeder, 34.4; Jim Kyle (one first), 31.7; Walt Foster, 27.0; Peter Lawson, 16.1; Bob Wilson and Art Keiser, 15.0, Jack Hammer, 12.0.

Rick Goetz and Jerry Lawson each compiled 28.1 points in the GP-14 series to tie for first place. Goetz had his father, Bill, as his crew, while Nancy Lawson crewed for her husband.

Each won two races. Other totals: Mara Vanderwaart took the other race and scored 18.8 points; Walt Gibson, 13.4; Tom Hilton, 13.0; John Hemhill, 5.1.

SPARKS FLY

As Sparks Get Ready. The Marquand Sparks, woman's field hockey team in Princeton comprised of players ranging from 20 to 50, are in the process of warming up for their fourth official season.

Two mornings a week, Tuesday and Friday from 10 to noon, the ladies gather at Marquand Field in an attempt to work out the rustiness. Any woman is welcome to join the group no matter how many years may have elapsed since her playing days. In fact, the Sparks are eager for recruits and have extra equipment available for newcomers.

Last year, the Sparks were able to field two teams. Playing Rumson, Princeton High School and Miss Fine's School, they won four and tied one.

Members of the 1963 teams were Mrs. Oakes Ames, Mrs. John Bernard, Mrs. Joseph Bolster, Mrs. John Claghorn, Mrs. P. J. Cobb, Mrs. Pepper Constable, Mrs. Douglas Corlette, Mrs. C. Fink Fischer, Mrs. James Graves, Miss Doreen Green, Mrs. Hallet Johnson, Mrs. Karl Light, Mrs. A. J. Maruca, Mrs. Perry Morgan, Mrs. Michael Ramus, Mrs. Lucius Wilmerding and Mrs. Newell Woodworth. Further information may be obtained from Mrs. Ames or Mrs. Constable.

A Roof for the Rink

Lawrenceville School's Lavino Rink will have a roof over it by the time the ice is frozen in November.

The addition will measure 230 by 124 feet and will greatly increase use of the rink, which in the past has been available for school hockey games and limited outside use only when the weather permitted. Translucent panels supported by steel beams will decrease the glare of the sun on the ice but will allow natural daytime lighting.

LAFAYETTE SQUARE?

Shopping Court Proposed. A landscaped court, tentatively called "Lafayette Shopping Square," will be described this Thursday before the Borough Zoning Board by representatives of Leonard LaPlaca, who has purchased the Prince Chevrolet property on Nassau, off Harrison, and hopes to convert it to a small, landscaped shopping court.

Mr. LaPlaca needs side-yard variances for construction of a new two-story building on the rear of the property. This building would house a row of shops on the ground floor and offices on the second floor.

Designed in the French Provincial manner, rather like buildings in New Orleans, it would have a wrought-iron balcony running the length of the second floor, and tall shuttered windows. Landscaped walks would lead from it to the other buildings now on the property. Fulmer and Bowers are the architects for Mr. LaPlaca.

If all goes well on the zoning side Mr. LaPlaca would move his Nassau Interiors furniture store from 162 Nassau to the show-room and garage now occupied by Prince. A smaller garage building, whose front has been used by the Gulick Agency, would be remodeled and rented. The Gulick Agency has already moved into the building next door formerly occupied by Schafer's Market.

McWILLIAMS ELECTED

To Head National Computer. Rex A. McWilliams has been elected president of National Computer Analysts Inc. of Princeton, and John J. Sheehan has been named executive vice- president. Mr. McWilliams succeeds Sherman Blumenthal, who has resigned from the firm.

In his first statement as president, Mr. McWilliams said that the company's emphasis will continue on contract programming and consultation services and on financial institution data processing services. Acquisition of new business and continuing contracts in both of these areas has resulted in a considerable backlog.

WILLIAMS TO EXPAND

Will Eolarge Building. Roger Williams Technical & Economic Services Inc. will increase the size of its office building by 1,500 square feet. The Princeton firm specializes in chemical market and ecomic consulting.

The construction contract for approximately $30,000 has been awarded to S.T. Peterson & Co. of Princeton by the fifteen-year-old Williams organization. In addition to its Princeton offices, Roger Williams also has offices in New York, London and Toronto.

ANNUAL AUCTION LISTED

By St. Matthews Church. The annual auction of St. Matthew's Episcopal Church, Pennington, will be held Saturday, October 3, on the church grounds, Main Street and Curlis Avenue. The auction will start at noon.

Lester Stout will return as auctioneer, and he will bring his gavel down on this year's special attraction — a 1953 Kaiser automobile. Anyone wishing to donate items to the auction may call Kenneth A. Marden at 737-1394.

'EOUCATING OUR WOMEN'

AAUW to Meet. "Educating Our Women for Modern Living" is the subject of a talk to be given by Dr. Ruth M. Adams, Dean of Douglass College, before members of the American Association of University Women on Wednesday, October 7 at 8:15 p.m. at Community Park School.

Women who would like to join the Princeton branch of AAUW are invited to attend and to obtain membership information from the chairman, Mrs. Edward E. Matthews, 401 Walnut Lane.

Hostesses for the meeting will be Mesdames Sanford Dreskin, James Fendley and Alan Smith.

MEETING SCHEDULED

By First Aid Auxiliary. The Ladies Auxiliary of the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad will hold its regular monthly meeting Monday evening at 8:15 at the squad building on North Harrison Street.

Following the business meeting, a "Dutch Maid" demonstration will be given. Bertha Foley, president, will preside.

PARTY IS HELD

For Goucher Students. A back-to-school party for new and returning students of Goucher College was held last week by the Goucher Club of Princeton at the home of Mrs. John P. McLusky, 89 Meadowbrook Drive.

Returning students feted were Sarah Campbell, Margaretta Coyle, Nina Kriz, Dale Rose, Mary Keegin and Martha Sichel. Dianna Venier and Marie Aall are entering freshmen.

Reprieve from the Reading

A delay of at least four months in elimination of early - morning passenger service on the Reading Railroad was announced this week.

The Interstate Commerce Commission ruled that the road must continue serving passengers at least until February 2, pending hearings on the need for two trains which carry many commuters from this area to New York. Day after this decision was announced, the Reading itself postponed until October 27 further action on dropping the trains.

The railroad said it had been advised that there is a possibility of state and federal aid to subsidize the losing operation. It reports the two commuter trains alone cause an annual deficit of some $250,000.

News Of The CHURCHES

FALL INSTITUTE SET

At Princeton Seminary Eleven courses of study are offered this year at the Fall Institute held at Princeton Seminary. Sponsors are the New Brunswick Presbytery and the Committee of Christian Education. Lectures will be held from 7 45 to 9 15 p m every Thursday in October The cost is $2.

The Rev. F. Hugh Lifflton of Second Presbyterian Church is chairman of the committee on evangelism which presents the "Modern Christian Outreach" series. Lectures include Dean Elmer G. Homighausen of Princeton Seminary and the Rev. Gayroud S. Wilmore Jr., head of the Presbyterian's national commission on religion and race.

Speakers in the "Modern Witness of the Church" series include George Pfaus, civil rights director for the state of New Jerssey; Mayor Arthur Holland of Trenton; the Rev Lynn Hageman, narcotics commissioner, New York City, and the Rev. Dr. Ellis G. Willard, New Jersey Presbyterian Homes.

A course on the contemporary church will be led by the Rev. Dr. Arlin Duba of Westminster Choir College and Dr Donald MacLeod of Princeton, among others.

The Rev. Walter Coats of Pennington Presbyterian is co-leader of a beginning course for church school leaders There will also be coures for stewardship, teaching primaries, teaching juniors, the role of women's associations, missionary education and the Book of Galatians. Inquiries are directed to the offices of local Presbyterian churches.

BIBLICAL TOUR BEGINS

With Dr. Tucker As Guide. The Rev Dr William L. Tucker, pastor emeritus of Second Presbyterian Church, leaves this Thursday to conduct a three-weeks' tour of the Biblical world.

Among the party of 17 are Mrs. Raymond V. Cortelyou, Mrs. Wanda Davis and Mrs Tucker, all of Princeton, Thomas P. Cook of Kingston, and four residents of Bound Brook, where Dr. Tucker is serving as minister of visitation.

The tour marks Dr Tucker's fourth trip to the Holy Land "On three different occasions," he says, "I have had the privilege of being in the Holy Land, but in all cases I have lacked sufficient time to fully enjoy the Holy Places and follow the Biblical account on the actual spot where Jesus and the disciples once stood."

The tour includes stops at Alexandria, Cairo, Beirut, Damascus, Jerusalem, Mount of Olives, Gethsemane, Bethlehem, Jericho, the Dead Sea, the Jordan River, Nazareth, Galilee, Athens, Corinth and Rome. The group will come home by jet from Amsterdam on October 22.

PASTOR SEARCH BEGINS

At Witherspoon Church. George Fields has been named chairman of the pulpit committee at Witherspoon Presbyterian Church,which is seeking a replacement for the departed Rev. Benjamin J. Anderson. Mrs. Simeon Moss is recording secretary.

Committee members include Herbert Williams, Mrs. Ermaline Gaskins, Mrs. James Floyd, Miss Fay Dickerson, Howard B. Waxwood Jr., John Counts, Thomas Caldwell, James Ward and Leonard Newton.

The group will process applications, vint candidates at their home churches and, finally, present their choice to the congregation for decision.

In the meantime, a pulpit supply committee has been formed. Members are the Rev James Andrews of Princeton Seminary, interim moderator, Mrs. Wesley Potter and Miss Francis Allison.

TWO APPOINTED

By Seminary. The Rev. Dr. James I. McCord, president of Princeton Seminary, has announced two staff changes:

William E. Lawder, 45, of 44 Knoll Drive succeeds George W Loos Jr. treasurer and business manager for the past 37 years; the Rev Dr. Jack Cooper of Albany assumes the post of director of continuing education.

Mr Lawder formerly a senior management information system analyst for Esso International, is chairman of the First Presbyterian board of deacons, institutional representative for Boy Scout Troop 43, and vice-chairman of the Stony Brook District, BSA.

Dr Cooper, a member of the Seminary's Class of 1943, received his doctorate in theology at the University of Edinburgh He has been pastor of Presbyterian churches in Watervliet and Schenectady, N Y. Since 1958, he has served as executive of the Albany N. Y. Presbyterian The Center of Continuing Education was established at the Seminary in 1962 to provide specialized programs for the active clergy.

LIBERIA IS TOPIC

Of Bishop's Wife. Mrs. Prince H Taylor Jr., wife of the new Methodist Bishop of the New Jersey Area, will discuss "Women of Liberia" at the Woman's Society of Christian Service meeting this Thursday evening at Princeton Methodist Church.

Mrs. Taylor, a former public school teacher and teen director in social service work, has been living for the past eight years in Liberia, where her husband served as bishop. A native of Georgia, she received her degree in secondary education from Columbia University

The WSCS president, Mrs Max Mesner will preside at a brief business meeting; Mrs Chester McKinney will lead the devotions. Officers this year include Mrs. Frank A Rechif, vice-president; Mrs. Leewood Bowles, recording secretary, and Mrs. Glenn Fryling, treasurer.

BULLETIN NOTES

Barbecue. Mt. Zion A.M.E. Church, Little Rocky Hill, will sponsor a barbecue dinner this Saturday Raymond Kornegay s chairman Donation is $1 50, dinner open at 4 p.m. The Rev Tilman Oglesby is pastor.

Welcome. The congregation of Hopewell Methodist Church will hold a supper at 6 p.m. Sunday to welcome their new pastor, the Rev. James D. Lynn, and his family Members and friends of the church are invited to attend. All comers are asked to bring a main dish, or salad or dessert.

SO NEW! SO RIGHT! SO OBVIOUSLY CADILLAC!

The 1965 Cadillac is the most dramatically new Cadillac in sixteen years: new from chassis to rooftop and new from start to stop. Its remarkable styling—elegant, majestic and impressive as never before—establishes it instantly as an all time Cadillac great. And not only is it an inspiration to look at—it is a revelation to drive! The marvelous responsiveness of Turbo Hydra-Matic is now standard on all eleven models. A new concept of frame and suspension gives the car incredible steadiness and levelness of ride—even under the severest conditions of cornering and handling. And there is quiet—quiet beyond anything you imagined possible in a motor car! Cadillac's new and more spacious interiors are marvelously rich and luxurious and include such personal options as an exclusive tilt and telescope steering wheel. Cadillac owner or Cadillac admirer—you owe yourself a journey at the wheel without delay. You will know at once that this is—in every way—the new Standard of the World!

A DECEPTIVE DOLLHOUSE

At first glance this white-shuttered Cape Cod looks made for a pair of dolls (it may be that if there are any house-hunting honeymooners around); but a real gay deceiver it is. There are seven rooms in all, and every one, with the exception of a downstairs bedroom or den, is good-sized. Sizeable, and numerous too, are the closet and storage area (the two double bedrooms upstairs have walk-ins the width of the rooms!)

The outside fits right in with the house—appealing, small but bigger than it looks, fairly secluded and "made the most of." Screen fencing with winding vines through it gives privacy to the terrace, while raised gardens on different levels are supported by stone walls — an enchanting effect. The location is good too: a pretty small street on the edge of the Borough within a stone's throw of the busline. $34,500

Some rentals still available for immediate occupancy — varying sizes, prices.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

HOW MUCH EMOTION IS TOO MUCH!

Prospective Home Owners Cautioned

"Do people vote for one candidate because he's handsome. . .or for another because he's not handsome and maybe, therefore, loaded with integrity?

"Well, nobody's really answered that one for sure. Probably never will. . .though I believe most of us feel such whimsicality is very minute when it comes to politics.

"But one field where whimsicality is still much too frequent is in choosing a new home. It's perpetually frustrating to me to see couples 'fal in love at first sight' with a house that sort of going to fall apart before it's lived out it's first decade.

"All too often the decision is made by Sally and Joe Doe to buy the house with the big patio. What they should be finding out is how is the inside of the house going to feel on a cold day in January or a hot one in July."

So says one of our leading electrical contractors. He pioneered with electrical heating in this area, has seen it prove its way into a major trend.

"The more you think before you buy a house, the better and longer you'll enjoy it.

"I recommend electrical heating systems for these reasons," he elaborates:

- An electrically heated house is an all weather house. It's comfortable the year around. When the weather is cold outside you can dial the exact temperature you want inside. Even when the heat is turned off in the summer you still have comfort. Good construction and sound insulation are of the best when an electrically heated house is built in accordance with recommended standards.

- Your house is more than your home. It's usually your major investment. Electrical heating systems are as new as tomorrow. Better yet, they stay good as new. Electrical heating systems aren't going to need early replacing. In fact you can expect them to last the life of the house. That heating system can be as great a financial asset, should you want to sell, as it is a comfort-asset, as long as you live there."

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of bygone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

QUESTION BOX

Q. Is the 10-payment plan for electricity available everywhere?

A. Plans which stagger payments around the year (so there's no seasonal strain on the budget) are pretty widely available. You should contact the utility company office for full details. But briefly: in addition to the electricity you use for heating, they'll figure all your other electricity usage too. This would anticipate how much you use for lighting, appliances, etc. Then they divide by ten and you're billed according to the estimate.

If you use less, it's credited. If you use more, then you're billed, but not until July, in any given year.

Q. Do you pretty much have to live in a new development to get electrical heating?

A. Only if that new development is where you want to live. Otherwise you can have your electrical heating wherever you want your house to be.

You'll find the telephone numbers of expert electrical contractors in the adjacent directory.

For your further information, installation of complete electrical home heating systems is not limited to new construction. Older dwellings can be successfully reconstructed.

Q. Would you recommend baseboards in preference to ceiling cable for a single story ranch house?

A. That's for an electrical contractor to decide for you. Both are extremely popular and effective. Sometimes construction details might give a slight nod to one over the other.

Q. What does the R measurement mean?

A. R's a measurement for insulation materials and means "installed resistance."

If You Are Planning To Build, Buy or Remodel Call Any One Of The Contractors Listed Below. He'll Give You All The Facts On Total Electric Home Heating.

And this 2-story Contemporary, with its 3 bedrooms and 2 baths, is nicely sited on 2 big acres, with woods as a background, and if you should add another bedroom wing, you will be definitely adding to the value of your investment . . . Recommended as a hedge against inflation. $39,900

SMALL ESTATE . . . these 6½ wooded acres, and far off the road and away from it all, this charming fieldstone house, add up to a property with immense appeal for you who want privacy and seclusion Large living room, separate dining room, 3 bedrooms, 1½ baths . . . plus a big playroom with fireplace. It isn't often that a small estate like this comes on the market in the Princeton area. $45,000

EXCEPTIONAL . . . In all the Princeton area, perhaps, there is no gentleman's estate to compare with this — 10 acres of lawns and spreading foliage sloping down to a beautiful brook, with the emerald fairways of Princeton's newest, and most exclusive, golf course gleaming on the hillsides beyond. The old Colonial house itself is a gem — 6 bedrooms, 3 baths, and with living and dining rooms which will provide a perfect setting for your most precious antiques. 4-car garage with apartment above. Guest House Tennis court . . . this is truly a place where country living reaches its apogee. (Sole agent) Price on request

STUART HILL . . . choice 2 acre building sites, off The Great Road, and next to the new Stuart Country Day School. Water, sewers and all utilities already installed, of course This new residential community offers more, perhaps, than any other in Princeton, for the new Princeton Day Schools, now under construction, are only a short walk away. Prices on request

NEED ROOM for that grand piano? Here is an exceptionally fine home, in a neighboring community, with a 31 foot living room — and, for enjoying the view, a screened porch which actually measures 16' x 27'. Add 3 bedrooms, 2 baths, and the fact that you'll own more than an acre of professionally landscaped property, and you'll understand why we are so pleased to call your attention to this availability. $40,000

GEORGIAN COLONIAL . . . with 5 bedrooms, 3 baths and powder room which offers everything that is desirable in country living — including its location on beautiful Mercer Road. This fine residence has been meticulously maintained, and the perfection of its landscaping, and its decor, proclaim its quality to the perceptive homeseeker. Here is a fine home that you'll enjoy, and you'll never get over the pleasure of your first visit at you approach the house under the spreading trees which line both sides of Princeton's most beautiful street. $79,000

KNOWN BY ITS DEEDS

Dating from 1706, this cozy farmhouse has been completely restored and redecorated inside. When its present owners had barely raised hammer and brush to begin outside, they were transferred, so there's still work to be done; but it's well on its way to being one of Princeton's most inviting old houses. A through center hall opens to living and dining rooms, kitchen, and bright breakfast room. There are three bedrooms, plus two and one-half baths and laundry. Many authentic 18th Century elements remain, such as wide pine floors, chair rails and mouldings, old glass, corner fireplaces, exposed ceiling beams, and a unique staircase. With over an acre on the lovely Cherry Valley Road. $33,500

A location that's custom-made for custom homes...

It is a location thick with rustling trees...spiced with babbling brooks...enjoying the satisfying sights and sounds, the welcome of the woods. Balcort at Princeton is a quiet cul-de-sac cut into the woods ...yet very much a part of Princeton Township's convenient, cultivated life. It is walking distance to the Stuart School; offers free bus service to Johnson Park Elementary School and to the Princeton High School.

Princeton's most successful custom builders...

Their names are Edward Sands and Ted Dean...Sandean Construction, Inc. During each of the past six years, these two long-time residents of Princeton built more custom and semi-custom homes in Princeton than any other builder. Many of the finest families in Princeton know Sandean's penchant for quality, tradition and the well-considered use of rustic surroundings. The beautiful woods of Balcort at Princeton will part gently for—and blend beautifully with—your custom home by Sandean. Show us your plans...Or tell us your requirements and we will design for you.

LAND IN THE COUNTRY. Do you intend to build? Then look around as the leaves fall. Get enough land. Remember in the rural areas you need a well and a disposal system of your own. Be sure you get a piece of ground big enough and properly positioned to allow you to have these in safety. WE HAVE NICE SITES IN THE HOPEWELL AREA OF TWO ACRES AND UP. We have some beautifully located land in a 100-acre tract. If you are thinking of land or a farm, see us. Our house inventory is limited right now, but we have a few nice items. REN TALS: A couple of choice small apartments. Very nice. Inquire. SEE GUINESS. JOHN D. GUINNESS, Real Estate Broker, 2 W. Broad Street, Hopewell, N. J. 466-1224.
